Hopes For Pact On Austria Now Appear Remote

MOSCOW (AP) — United States officials said today all hope of completing an Austrian peace treaty in Moscow appeared gone and that the last session of the Council of Foreign Ministers here probably will be held tonight or tomorrow.

State Secretary Marshall said today that if the Austrian peace treaty is not completed by September, the United States favors referring the whole problem to the General Assembly of the United Nations.

While still granting the chance of a "miracle" to break up the deadlock on key issues, informants said the best opinion now, based on results of three secret sessions held Monday and Tuesday, is that the Austrian peace pact is "out the window" for the present.

Meanwhile, delegations were packing, and from all appearances the visiting diplomats and their staffs expected to be gone from Moscow within three or four days after the conference ends.

SPECIAL TRAIN

Luggage from the French Embassy was reported being stowed aboard a special train today.

State Secretary Marshall and most of the Americans will fly back to the United States in special planes. Marshall was reported to have ordered his plane here from Berlin and it was said to be due here tomorrow.

If estimates of the Austrian situation are correct—that the Russians will remain unyielding in their stand against the other three powers to the end— the only work remaining for the Foreign Ministers is the job of turning back to their deputies and to the four-power Control Council at Berlin the German problems on which the Big Four was unable to agree.

ONE MORE SESSION

No further secret meetings of the ministers were scheduled, but sources said it was likely that at least one more session on Austria would be held before the conference breaks up.

Several qualified informants said the three secret meetings had delineated the differences on Austrian questions sharply, but had not broken the deadlocks. Molotov, these informants said, still stood alone against the other three ministers, but without completely rejecting their views, thus leaving the door slightly ajar.

Gordon Head Army Huts Will Be Reserved For Veterans

Gordon Head army camp will be reserved for veterans' emergency housing only, and the City Council will investigate the possibility of obtaining the camp on the Industrial Reserve for the housing of city welfare cases, it was decided at today's estimates committee meeting.

Forrest L. Shaw, chairman of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council, told the council if any city cases or evictees were to be housed in the camp, the federal government would require the city to meet the federal expenditure for conversion, dollar for dollar. If the 65 buildings were left for veterans only, he said, the government would put up $30,000 and the conversion work could start immediately.

EIGHT ON RESERVE

He said that eight buildings on the Industrial Reserve will be available by the end of June when the special school classes being conducted there end. He said one building is vacant now. These huts would be ideal for city cases.

The welfare committee, under Ald. Margaret D. Christie, was instructed to immediately investigate costs of leasing or purchasing the huts and converting them into housing units. Mr. Shaw estimated that 35 families could be accommodated in the eight buildings, which are all in excellent condition.

Mr. Shaw was anxious to get started on the work before D.V.A. guards are removed so that there will be no damage from vandalism to the 65 buildings.

"This is an emergency, a terrible emergency," he declared. "Many families are living under desperate conditions."

He said that conversions had been streamlined, so that it now only costs $166 for reconversion of each family unit. The first ones cost $500 per family.

Ald. F. W. Cabeldu moved that Gordon Head be formally turned over to the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council immediately so that the conversion can be speeded.

A. Palmer, Rehabilitation Council secretary, and S. Okell of the D.V.A. appeared with Mr. Shaw.

Ford Tells Workers To Ignore Meeting

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Company today directed its 75,000 production workekrs in the Detroit area to remain on their jobs Thursday despite a mass meeting of union labor.

The United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) have asked all unionists in the area to meet in downtown Cadillac Square from 2 to 7 p.m. in a protest against anti-labor legislation pending in Washington.

Ford posted notices in its plants stating that Thursday is a regular working day and that any employee leaving his job "does so without the approval of management."

The statements made no direct mention of the mass meeting.

Police Recover Stolen Jewelry

Detectives Angus Munro, right, and Louis Callan sorting out expensive and cheap jewelry recovered by the two plainclothesmen following the arrest of Dennis W. Delane, formerly of Calgary, by Detective Munro April 18. Delane pleaded guilty Tuesday in police court to retaining in his possession stolen property. Evidence revealed he had over $1,000 worth of diamonds on him when arrested. Joseph McKenna appeared for accused in court today and asked that Delane's plea of guilty on Tuesday be withdrawn. Magistrate Hall would not give an immediate decision and remanded the case until Friday morning, when counsel will be given an opportunity to present argument. While investigations are proceeding to locate more jewelry and other articles stolen during the last two months, police are engaged at the present time with the big task of having the recovered watches, rings, necklaces and other items of the assortment identified by the rightful owners. Detective Munro has a $400 fur coat under his arm which was found in the jewelry round-up.

Thousand More Children Receive Family Allowances In Victoria

The number of children in British Columbia in receipt of family allowances continues to mount according to the April figures released today by W. R. Bone, regional director. During the current month 243,029 children in 127,583 families received allowances amounting to $1,441,184. These figures represent an increase of 1,000 children over the March totals.

The influx of families to British Columbia as compared to those moving from the province to other parts of the Dominion continued during the monih to be approximately two to one, while 263 families left for other parts of Canada, 456 families moved into British Columbia. This influx continues to be largely from the three prairie provinces, Alberta sending 174 families, Saskatchewan 110, and Manitoba 990; in comparison Alberta received 94, Saskatchewan 67 and Manitoba 31.

Poultrymen Out For Better Egg Prices

Poultrymen of Royal Oak are uniting in a demand that immediate action be taken to right "the grave economic wrong of rising costs in egg production with no increase in price for the producer."

A protest to this effect has been signed and is now being circulated throughout the province.

"If the present situation continues many producers will be out of business by the fall, which will cause far greater price increases than a few cents added now," a statement issued after the meeting said.

The meeting was sponsored by the Saanich Local of the Pacific Coast Poultry Producers' Association.

Italian Students Seize University Of Trieste

ROME (AP)—Press dispatches today reported Italian students had seized the University of Trieste, hoisted the Italian flag and repulsed two attempts by police to force them out.

The students barricaded themselves in the building Tuesday in protest against removal of their rector, Angelo Ermanno Cammarata, by the Allied Military Government, the dispatches said. No reason was given for the A.M.G.'s action.

Crown's Appeal In Dick Case Opens

TORONTO (CP) — Speaking for two hours without interruption, W. B. Common, counsel, today opened the Crown's appeal against acquittal of Mrs. Evelyn Dick on a charge of murdering her husband John, at Hamilton, March 6, 1946. Mr. Common said there was "one ground only" for the appeal—that Mr. Justice J. C. McRuer was "wrong in law" when he rejected Mrs. Dick's statements to police as evidence at her trial.

Canada Not Invited

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said this afternoon in the Commons Canada had not been invited to attend meetings of the United Nations military staff committee which at Lake Success, N.Y., is attempting to draft plans for a United Nations international police force.

Japs Meet Manning

EDMONTON (CP) — A group of representative Alberta Japanese will confer with Premier Manning and the Alberta cabinet tomorrow on the status of Japanese in the province. The conference follows an Ottawa announcement that all controls over where Japanese may reside in Canada have been lifted, with the exception of British Columbia.

Less Meat To Sell

EDMONTON (CP) — Shortage of good meat in Edmonton can be attributed to lack of finished cattle, caused by the severe winter, packing-house officials stated today. They said they had no knowledge of any black market operations.

Truman To Visit Canada; Date Probably June 10

WASHINGTON (CP)—Prime Minister King said today President Truman plans to visit Canada "very shortly."

The probable date was reported as June 10.

The Prime Minister told reporters after a 30-minute call on Mr. Truman at the White House:

"I received with delight his (Truman's) assurance he will visit Canada very shortly. No definite date has been set. Details will be given out when completed."

Mr. King said the President will visit Ottawa and he may possibly make other short trips from there. Present White House plans are for the President to travel by train.

Presidential Secretary Charles Ross informed newspaper men a trip to Canada and a visit to Princeton University June 16 to receive a degree constituted the President's only definite travel plans at this time.

Ross declined to nail down officially the time of the Canadian trip, but other sources indicated Mr. Truman will be in Ottawa about June 10.

Prime Minister King, here after a holiday in Virginia, was on the White House calling list today. Ross said the Prime Minister had asked the appointment simply to pay his respects to the President.

Speeder Entered Line Without Order--Eyres

Railways Minister L. H. Eyres reported today the railway accident on the property of the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. last week in which five persons were injured was caused by a second speeder coming onto the main line without an order of the dispatcher.

In the accident near Port Renfrew two speeders collided. Mr. Eyres' statement followed an investigation by the provincial railways department.

"This report corrects a press notice which stated that the man who was severely injured in a logging accident was also involved in the speeder accident. This was not so. A speeder was proceeding from the Beach Camp to bring the injured man down so that he could be sent to hospital and the accident occurred before the injured man was reached."

The statement said the company must accept responsibility for the accident.

General Charges 2 Soviet Sergeants Beaten By British

BERLIN (Reuter) — Allegations that two Red Army sergeants were "wildly beaten" by British military police, one man losing an eye, were made by Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov, Soviet commandant in Berlin, at Tuesday night's meeting of the Allied Kommandatura, according to the Taegliche Rundschau, Berlin Soviet paper, today.

Kotikov demanded immediate investigation of the incidents, alleged to have occurred in the British sector of Berlin, where the two Russian sergeants were stranded after their truck had run out of gasoline.

Observers in Berlin regarded the protest as extraordinary, because—though British press correspondents were briefed Tuesday night after the Kommandatura meeting—no information was given regarding the protest.

British authorites were believed to be considering whether to issue a statement later today.

According to Kotikov, the Russian sergeants—named Woronoj and Krugijakow—were driving through a Berlin district on duty. As they re-boarded the truck after refueling, British M.P.'s arrived in two jeeps and surrounded it.

Kotikov alleged that some of the police dragged the two sergeants from the truck and demanded their weapons, though the men were unarmed.

Changes To Meet Daylight Saving Starting Sunday

Transportation services in British Columbia will be one of the most affected industrial groups as a result of daylight saving time starting Sunday.

Some travel routes will change to fast time; others will not. And to alter the situatioon further, several schedule changes will come into effect shortly.

But general guide in the picture is this: Services operating within B.C.'s boundaries will change to D.S.T., while those operating over the province's borders will remain on standard time. Reason for the latter: That Washington State, Alaska and some other parts of Canada are remaining on standard time.

SHIP SCHEDULES

Canadian Pacific vessels will remain officially on standard, but on the Victoria overnight, the Gulf Islands and Vancouver-Westview-Comox runs schedules will be adjusted to put them in effect on D.S.T. Midnight boats here and at Vancouver, for instance, will leave at 11 p.m. standard.

All other C.P.S.S. runs, including the Victoria, Vancouver and Nanaimo day vessels, will remain on standard. Canadian National's northern ship run will remain on standard.

Union Steamships' services out of Vancouver will all switch to D.S.T., except the Wednesday sailing to Ketchikan, which will stay on standard.

Gulf Lines' coast services will all change to fast time.

BUS TIMETABLES

On the mainland Pacific Stage Lines' coast service over the U.S. border will remain on standard, but all their other B.C. runs will be on D.S.T.

All B.C. Electric buses, interurban trams and streetcars will operate on fast time.

TRAINS

All Canadian Pacific, Canadian National and Great Northern trains will remain on standard, and their station clocks will do likewise. Railway office staffs will work on D.S.T., however.

At the same time both the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. will switch departure times of their evening trains, effective Sunday. Both lines' Toronto train, now leaving at 7.45 p.m., will leave instead at 7.15 p.m. standard, and their Montreal trains, both now leaving at 7.15, will depart at 7.45 p.m. standard.

The C.N.R. announces that faster service will be coupled with its switch, with two hours clipped off its present running time to Ottawa and Montreal and a half hour shorter run to Toronto.

PLANE SCHEDULES

Trans-Canada Air Lines will operate all flights on standard time, with new schedules for eastern and local flights to be issued May 1. The new Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle schedule will be a summer change, to provide additional flights and to bring flying times in line with D.S.T. in most cases, although they will still remain officially on standard time.

All United Air Lines operations to and from the U.S. will remain on standard.

All Canadian Pacific Air Lines flights except one will switch to D.S.T. Exception is flight 21, to the Cariboo, Peace River, Yukon and Alaska, which will remain on standard.

Ottawa Studying Industries To Draft 1947 Immigration Plans

OTTAWA (CP)—A. L. Jolliffe, the government's director of immigration, said today his branch and the Department of Labor "are actively engaged in determining the labor requirements in agriculture, mining, lumbering and logging with a view to bringing to Canada from Europe immigrants in these classes where it is established their services are required."

Appearing before the Senate immigration committee to give a resume of steps taken by Canada to open her gates to foreigners, he said "the matter of the admission of domestic servants is also under consideration . . .

"It is not possible to select immigrants in many countries at present; the main source of supply for any bulk movement of the classes of labor admissible is displaced persons in occupied territory."

Mr. Jolliffe said "the chief obstacle to an extensive immigration movement this year is ocean transportation. While it is not possible to estimate accurately the number of British subjects in the United Kingdom who are awaiting the opportunity to proceed to Canada, it is certain the number coming will be limited only by the steamship accommodation and not by any lack of prospective British immigrants."

DIONNE'S PLAN PROTESTED

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec and Levis Federated Trades and Labor Council protested at a meeting here Tuesday night permission granted to Ludger Dionne, Liberal member of Parliament for Beauce, to bring to Canada 100 Polish women to work in Mr. Dionne's spinning mill at St. Georges de Beauce, Que.

Bishop To Attend Australian Event

Rt. Rev. Harold E. Sexton, Bishop of British Columbia, plans to leave Victoria in the late summer to attend the centenary celebrations of the Diocese of Melbourne, Adelaide and Newcastle, it was revealed in his charge to the 45th session of the synod of the Diocese of British Columbia in Memorial Hall today.

"The late primate asked me to represent him at the centenary celebrations," he said. "If I go, it would entail a few months' absence, but I do not anticipate any serious inconvenience would result. I have only been away once in 12 years, and, as some of you know, I am in serious need of a holiday.

"During my absence, the dean would act as my commissary, and I am very happy to know that I may confidently ask him to accept this responsibility."

During the course of his charge, Bishop Sexton said that a determined effort must be made to complete the cathedral. He said it would be necessary to raise a large sum of money before building operations could be started.

Prison, $50,000 Fine For U.S. Draft-Dodger

NEW YORK (AP)—Serge Rubinstein, 39, Russian-born international financier, was sentenced today to 2½ years in prison and fined $50,000 on his conviction of draft law violation.

Rubinstein and two co-defendants were convicted Tuesday night after a jury had deliberated seven hours.

Rubinstein was indicted Jan. 30, 1946, on charges of falsely representing his non-liability for military service to a local draft board in 1943.

Allen Gordon Foster, former director of the Panhandle Producing and Refining Company, and James C. Hart, former president of the Taylorcraft Aviation Corporation, were convicted of making false statements and conspiring to aid Rubinstein evade military service.

A five-point indictment against the financier accused him of falsely stating he had no assets with which to support seven dependents and of stating he was essential to the operation of the companies he owned and controlled. It also accused him of conspiring with Foster and Hart.

Difficult Plays Bring Comments For Courage

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

The second session of the Greater Victoria School Drama Festival was remarkable for the difficulty of the three plays presented. Roth Gordon, adjudicating, commented on the advanced problems contained in these selections; particularly in regard to emotional significance and in two instances, dialect, the latter, being a point requiring most careful consideration. The directors, however, were complimented on their courage in tackling these plays.

Tuesday night's program took place before a capacity audience in the Esquimalt Elementary School.

ESQUIMALT HIGH SCHOOL

"The Grand Cham's Diamond," by Allan Monkhouse; presented by Esquimalt High School under the direction of Gwen Hewlings.

Cast:
Mrs. Perkins ..... Joan Davies
Mr. Perkins ..... John MacDonald
Miss Perkins ..... Olive Dornan
A Man in Black ..... Jack Wallach
Albert Watkins ..... Bill Stephenson
Stage Manager—Charlie Dodsworth

This was a good play and one well worth doing, but it had some serious problems and contained the elusive 'element' of pathos. The scene adequately established atmosphere. The first half of the play went better than the second which needed more rehearsal. The cast showed a good differentiation of character but had a tendency to crowd together on the stage. Mr., Mrs. and Miss Perkins were especially well cast. There was good backstage work and costume and make-up were very good.

MT. NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL

"Campbell of Kilmohr," by J. A. Ferguson; presented by Mt. Newton High School, under the direction of Bernard Webber.

Cast:
Mary Stewart ..... Joan Ward
Morag Cameron ..... Roberta Ballantyne
Dugald Stewart ..... Arnold Hamilton
Capt. Sandeman ..... Bob Dudman
Archibald Campbell ..... Eric Kellow
James Mackenzie ..... Gerald Sager
Stage Manager—Shirley Bote

This was a most ambitious attempt. Mr. Gordon advised that first performances by young amateurs should take a simpler form. The setting of the stage was not in good balance, but the lighting was good. The adjudicator felt that there was plenty of promise in the cast, but due to a lack of understanding of line-content, they spoke too fast.

ESQUIMALT HIGH'S SECOND

Scenes from "A School for Scandal," by Richard Brinsley Sheridan; presented by Esquimalt High School, under the direction of Gwen Hewlings.

Cast:
Sir Peter Teazle ..... John MacDonald
Lady Teazle ..... Olive Dornan
Stage Manager—Charlie Dodsworth

This, Mr. Gordon felt, was a delicate and fragile thing, depending upon lines that required expert presentation. The scene would have been improved with less symmetrical balance. More movement was required on the part of the actors. Lady Teazle showed a fine appreciation of pantomime and has all the makings of an excellent actress. The costumes and make-up were excellent.

The session was opened by R. H. Green of the Board of School Trustees. During the intermissions, selections were given by the Esquimalt School Choir.

New Find Supports Theory Fire Was Of Incendiary Origin

Further weight was given to the theory that the Saturday fire, which destroyed the main building at the Willows fairgrounds and badly damaged the adjoining women's building, was of an incendiary origin, in the discovery Tuesday of a large cardboard carton, containing straw, shavings and small pieces of wood, placed against the racing grandstand structure, an investigation group learned.

The investigators of the fire scene are Fire Chief Ed Clayards of Oak Bay, William P. Nicholls, assistant provincial fire marshal and a representative of the fire underwriters surveying the situation for the insurance company.

The box was located by one of the guards employed to patrol the area since the week-end blaze to prevent further outbreaks. The guard is being maintained by owners of horses stabled at the Willows. The investigation went on the whole day Tuesday and will continue today.

Mr. Nicholls' report will be tendered to the B.C. Fire Marshal following the investigation and it will then be forwarded to the Oak Bay Fire Department.

Chief Clayards commented following yesterday's survey that certain evidence uncovered led to the belief the fire was of suspicious origin. It is not known whether the new find was another attempt to cause fire damage at the fairgrounds, or whether the box with the inflammable materials was planted at the same time as the other blaze took place, but for some reason was not ignited.

Marjorie Forrest Wins Presbytery Speaking Contest

Marjorie Forrest was judged winner of the annual public-speaking contest of the Vancouver Island Presbytery Young People's United, held Tuesday night in the Metropolitan United Church.

Miss Forrest spoke on the subject "Juvenile Delinquency—Its Causes and Cure." She gave many reasons for crime among young members of a community and asked if schools, since schooling is compulsory, could not be the centres for teaching the moral code.

Miss Forrest was one of five speakers. The others and their subjects were: Edna White, "The Correspondence School"; Vera Nanson, "Canada's Shame—Our Mental Hospitals"; Sam Gung, "Are the Ten Commandments Necessary?" and Jack Spiller, "Young People's World Conference."

Miss Forrest was presented with the Victoria Daily Times Challenge Trophy, which she will hold for one year. Judges were A. Collins, CJVI, and Barrie Goult and E. M. Whyte of Toastmasters' International. Joy Collins was in the chair.

T.B. Patients Cured In A Few Months With New Drug

T.B. germs have met their master, streptomycin. Case histories show that germs disappear rapidly once treatment is begun. Some patients are actually cured within a few months.

The drug is most effective in treating patients with lung tuberculosis, the most common kind of T.B. In the first few weeks, sometimes within days, fever goes down, the cough stops, the patient's appetite returns and starts to regain weight. Microscopic tests of sputum shows that T.B. germs no longer exist and spots on the lungs are disappearing.

C.C.F. Move To Get Jap Fishermen Back To Coast Of B.C. Fails

OTTAWA (CP) — The question of what should be done with the Japanese in Canada was raised in the Commons again Tuesday, but the debate mainly proved to be a revival of arguments used in similar discussions at previous sessions.

One of the few new developments in the discussion, was an announcement by Labor Minister Mitchell that the Dominion government had lifted its restrictions on the movements of Japanese in parts of Canada east of British Columbia. He said the restrictions had been lifted April 14 and since that time the Japanese were free to go where they liked east of B.C.

C.C.F. members renewed requests that racial discrimination against Japanese be eliminated. Countering these requests were demands by some Progressive Conservatives and some Liberal members—most of them from British Columbia—that the Japanese should not be allowed to return to Pacific coastal areas.

PRESSES B.C. RIGHTS

In the latter group was Veterans' Minister Mackenzie, who said that if the House took from British Columbia the right of adequate internal security it would be striking a blow against the Canadian Confederation. The rest of Canada should not "interfere" with the policies of British Columbia.

The debate was set off when members reached a section of the government's main control bill that would continue the power to deny Pacific coast fishing licenses to persons of Japanese origin. Ross Thatcher, C.C.F., Moose Jaw, Sask., moved an amendment to have the section withdrawn and once he took his seat the full-fledged debate was on.

Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver East, said the Oriental issue had been a live one in British Columbia as long as he could remember. He recalled how in 1941 the Japanese had been removed from the Pacific Coast because it was feared that in case of invasion it might not be possible to distinguish the invaders from Japanese Canadians.

"What's a uniform for?" asked A. L. Smith, P.C., Calgary West.

Mr. MacInnis said it was known that not only the Japs but the "Germans had misused the uniform."

In reply to a question from George Cruickshank, Lib., Fraser Valley, Mr. MacInnis said he had not objected to the removal of the Japanese at the time because he thought it best in the light of the sentiment and feeling stirred up by some members of Parliament.

Mr. MacInnis said the Japanese had been removed from the coast as a war measure. Most other wartime restrictions were being removed and it was time those affecting the Japanese were lifted.

He said "this country must be in a terrible state" if for security reasons a few thousand Japanese had to be kept away from the Pacific coast.

He said there was widespread feeling in British Columbia against the treatment being accorded the Japanese.

ORDERS PASSED

Earlier Tuesday members had passed orders-in-council dealing with labor relations, fishing, government purchase of sugar, compensation for Crown company employees, and appeals in cases involving breach of wartime regulations.

Mr. Mitchell canceled six orders relating to the administration of wartime labor relations in the provinces. He said the provinces had advised that they were prepared to re-assume, effective May 15, those labor relations which came under their jurisdiction but were turned over to the Dominion during the war.

At the same time he obtained passage of an order that will continue certain federal wartime labor regulations which later will be absorbed in a new federal labor code. Mr. Mitchell said it was hoped the new code would be the basis for uniform labor legislation across the country.

Pilot's Touch Comes From Ground

Catapulted off on a mission to serve as pilotless aircraft target, the navy KDD-1 zooms into the air during demonstration at Naval Air Missile Test Centre, Point Mugu, Calif. Jet-propelled, this model is capable of attaining a maximum speed of 220 miles per hour, has ceiling of 10,000 feet and duration of flight of about 40 minutes. Considerable skill is required on part of remote control operator.

Down By 'Chute

Its mission over, this conventional type pilotless aircraft target plane floats safely to the ground at Naval Air Missile Test Centre, Point Mugu, Calif. Capable of maximum speed of about 240 m.p.h. and flight duration of about 80 minutes, it is radio controlled and can simulate practically all manoeuvres of fighter aircraft. Ground "pilot" releases the landing 'chute.

Kamloops-Born Jap Guilty Of Atrocity, Sentenced To Death

HONGKONG (Reuter)—Kanao Inouye, 30-year-old Kamloops, B.C.-born Japanese, Tuesday was sentenced to death by the Hongkong Supreme Court, which convicted him of high treason.

Inouye left Canada for Japan in 1935 for university education and military service, but said shortly after the war he still was a British subject.

Inouye served with the Japanese gendarmerie in Hongkong and took part in the arrest and torture of many residents.

He was remembered well by Canadian prisoners of war captured at Hongkong in December, 1941, and was accused of ill-treating them on many occasions.

When he appeared before a war crimes court he escaped several charges by pleading he was a British subject. Then he reversed his defence when he came up on the treason charges, saying he had always regarded himself as a Japanese.

But Chief Justice Sir Henry Blackall said Inouye was a natural-born British subject and had remained so at all times.

Britain To Keep Tobacco Price Up

LONDON (Reuter) — Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Tuesday stood firmly by his sharp tax increase on tobacco, which last Tuesday boosted the retail price of cigarettes to the equivalent of 68 cents for 20, when the House of Commons went into committee on the budget resolutions.

The House supported the tobacco resolution 263 to 118.

Under pressure from members of both sides of the House, Dalton promised to investigate the possibility of concessions to old-age pensioners who would be hardest hit by the new prices. Consideration would be given to the danger of creating a new black market.

C.N.R. Prepared For Immigration

OTTAWA (CP)—The department of colonization and agriculture of the Canadian National Railways brought a "limited number of British immigrants into Canada" during 1946 and "is in a position to deal with large-scale movement when it is called upon to do so," it was disclosed Tuesday in the annual report of the company.

During the year the department established 1,439 families and 690 single men on 253,742 acres of land and 4,922 persons were placed in agricultural, forestry and mining employment, the report said.

The report did not elaborate on movement of British immigrants to Canada.

Deny Plan To Bring Nurses From Europe

OTTAWA (CP)—The Health Department said Tuesday there was "no foundation" for a report the department may consider bringing to Canada as many as 3,000 nurses from displaced persons camps in Europe.

The department made the statement in comment on a statement by Miss Rae Chittick, president of the Canadian Nurses' Association, in Calgary Saturday that the federal government already had approached one province to ascertain the reaction of Canadian nurses.

No Discrimination By Government On Beet Sugar Policy

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Ilsley denied in the Commons Tuesday that the government has discriminated against the sugar beet industry and said the administration's policy had been "reasonable."

Mr. Ilsley was replying to John Diefenbaker, P.C., Lake Centre, who called on the government to provide greater encouragement for the industry on the ground increased production would mean more sugar in the Canadian ration.

The discussion arose before passage in committee stage of a provision in the omnibus control bill for the establishment of the Canadian Sugar Stabilization Corporation, a Crown company which will handle the purchase of sugar supplies.

Mr. Ilsley said increased domestic production would not mean much change in the domestic ration. The increased production would go into the international sugar pool and Canada still would draw her 6 per cent allotment. The increase through the addition of the greater Canadian production would not mean "very much."

He reported that sugar beet production before the war totaled 75,000 tons yearly. During the war this had increased to slightly more than 100,000 tons while the capacity of sugar factories suitable for the handling of sugar beets was 150,000 tons.

Traffic In Babies Reported In Alberta

CALGARY (CP)—Miss Charlotte Whitton of Toronto, chairman of the I.O.D.E. provincial welfare study, in an address here Monday said Alberta babies are "bartered . . . before birth" and "exported" to the United States.

Addressing the Men's and Women's Canadian Club of Calgary, Miss Whitton contended there has been large scale adoption of Alberta babies outside the province and without judicial order."

(In Edmonton Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, Alberta Minister of Public Welfare, said in commenting on Miss Whitton's statements that "she is just a human talking machine . . . she has never had any responsibility for child welfare administration.")

C.N. Indies Ships Had Profit In 1946

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships Ltd. completed 1946 with an operating profit of $1,709,888 compared with $1,563,159 in the previous year, it was shown Tuesday in the annual report, which outlined the company's expansion plans for 1947.

The report, tabled in the Commons in conjunction with the report of the Canadian National Railways system, showed 49 voyages compared with 23 in 1945. Freight revenues totaled $5,700,121, an increase of 80.6 per cent over 1945, and passenger revenue went from $55,326 to $96,727. The report said limited passenger accommodation fell far below the increasing demands for passage.

Provision was made in the year's expenditures for cost of overhaul of the Lady Nelson and the Lady Rodney, which were released in December from their wartime duties as hospital and bride ships and which now are in drydock preparatory to resuming their regular West Indies service to the eastern group of islands in the Indies.

Resume Horsemanship Training For R.C.M.P.

OTTAWA (CP) — Training in horsemanship has been revived at the Rockliffe Barracks of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police just outside Ottawa, but Commissioner S. T. Wood said recently the famed musical ride of the "Mounties" probably would not be revived until next year at the earliest.

The horsemanship training at Rockliffe, like Regina, is not yet officially a part of the curriculum for rookies. But it is expected it may be included sometime in the future as the force again sponsors the specially-trained horses and men in a revival of the musical ride which was a popular sidelight in pre-war days.

Island News

Resort Owners Expect Busy Tourist Season

PARKSVILLE—With reservations coming in since January and more than half the accommodation in hotels and auto camps already booked, resort owners throughout the district expect a busier season than ever.

Reasons given are the fact that more new cars are on the road and that there is now better service to transport them from the mainland. In addition to an increased number of ferries from United States' ports there will be five boats a day from Vancouver to Nanaimo, instead of three as in other years.

Both hotel and auto court proprietors report an increased number of reservations for June. They consider more tourists than usual will visit the island early in order to secure accommodation.

Langford Institute To Make Donations

LANGFORD—At a meeting of the Langford Women's Institute, tentative plans were made for the annual flower show and fair at the end of August. A small donation will be given to the Shower of Dimes for the Solarium and also to the Board of Health Unit for some material for pre-school clinics.

Mrs. William Blair, president of the Victoria Parent District, local council, was the guest speaker and explained the objects and aims of the society.

U.S. Foreign Aid Bill Goes To House After Senate O.K.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Under attack as a "blank cheque," the administration's $350,000,000 foreign relief bill hit the House of Representatives floor today less than 24 hours after the Senate had sealed its approval on an historic U.S. $400,000,000 program to help Greece and Turkey curb Communism.

Debate on the relief bill and the Interior Department appropriation next probably will delay House action on the Greek-Turkish aid program until some time next week.

The Senate passed the measure late Tuesday by a vote of 67 to 23 after weeks of debate in which opponents assailed it as a step toward war with Russia and supporters claimed it will help preserve peace.

A final flare-up marked the last hours of the Senate's torrid debate on the Greek-Turkish issue of U.S. aid to "free peoples." It was touched off by Senator Edwin C. Johnson (Dem-Colo.), author of several unsuccessful amendments to modify the bill, with the charge that Congress is underwriting a "military alliance" with Turkey that invites Russian retaliation.

Obviously irked, Chairman Arthur Vandenberg (Rep.-Mich.), of the Senate foreign relations committee recalled that Johnson also had contended "repeatedly" the program can lead only to war with the Soviet Union.

Terming that statement "an invitation to the precise disaster that this bill seeks to prevent," Vandenberg continued:

"That is an inflammable statement and it is a grave error. I deny there is any such purpose in the heart of any senator who today supports the President of the United States."

Terrorists Suicide With Explosives Hidden In Oranges

LONDON (Reuter) — Explosives hidden inside oranges were smuggled into the Palestine jail where two Jewish terrorists awaiting execution committed suicide last week-end, Lord Hall, First Lord of the Admiralty, told the House of Lords today.

The minister said the juice was sucked from the oranges and the explosives inserted in its place.

Replying to a question, Hall said that since Aug. 1, 1945, the death toll due to terrorist activities in Palestine had been 68 members of the armed forces, 30 police and 15 civilians. The wounded included 191 troops, 49 police and nine civilians.

Casualties in the recent Palestinian railway disaster, in which seven were reported killed, were not included in these figures because full reports had not yet been received.

During the same period 168 Jews were convicted for terrorist activities and 28 sentenced to death. Four were executed and 22 sentences commuted to life imprisonment.

Thirty-three terrorists were killed in clashes with police.

Some Lumber Prices Raised 20 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP)—An upward revision of domestic lumber prices ranging from 15 to 20 per cent at the consumer level in stipulated areas was announced Tuesday night by Reconstruction Minister Howe as he amplified the recent reduction of export lumber quotas in interior British Columbia and the prairie provinces.

Elaborating on an announcement made at Vancouver recently by W. E. Uren, timber controller, Mr. Howe said reduction of export quotas in interior B.C. and the prairie lumber producing areas was being made to help meet the present intensive domestic demands for lumber and as a means of accelerating Canada's housing construction program.

Prices board officials said the price revision would apply only in the areas where export quotas were reduced.

In Mr. Uren's recent announcement at Vancouver it was made clear that the export quota reduction does not apply to mills of the Vancouver forest district where two months ago exporters entered a $25,000,000 contract to supply Britain with more than 500,000,000 board feet during is year and the first half of 1948.

FRUITLESS BUT NOT HOPELESS

TEN DAYS AGO AT THE HOUSE OF Soviet Aviation Industry in Moscow the question arose over what subject the Foreign Ministers of the "Big Four" should discuss next. In an obviously frustrated mood, Rt. Hon. Ernest Bevin, Britain's Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, is reported to have leaned forward on the flannel-covered table and "rumbled" these words: "I don't really care what we talk about; we've been here for four weeks already and haven't accomplished anything." No doubt these sentiments were echoed by the Briton's western colleagues; they had hoped the men at the Kremlin would, at long last, demonstrate a practical spirit of co-operation. The important business of defining the terms of the peace treaties for Germany and Austria demanded it. Since these deliberations began in the Russian capital on March 10, however, the representatives of the "Big Four" have met nearly 40 times in solemn conclave.

The general situation has not changed materially in the meantime. According to Associated Press correspondent John M. Hightower's dispatch from Moscow today, nothing but a "miracle" will break the deadlock which not even three secret sessions on Monday and Tuesday of this week were able to influence; indeed, all signs indicate that the British, United States and French ministers are now busy making preparations for the return journey to their respective homes. To all intents and purposes, therefore, the conference appears destined to conclude with Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov standing his ground against the spokesmen for the three western democracies—save, perhaps, that the Russian minister has not completely rejected all Anglo-American-French views on the question of terms for Austria. But if the door is left slightly ajar, as the A.P. dispatch infers, headway may be made when the Council of Foreign Ministers meets again. Between now and then it will be the task of the deputies and the four-power Control Council in Berlin to begin another verbal wrestling bout with the details of the formula for Germany which failed to produce agreement in Moscow.

Regardless of the failure to make any substantial headway with the German and Austrian treaties, however, it would seem to be unwise for the general public to become unduly pessimistic or unduly impatient. Soon after the end of the First Great War the Allied and Associated Powers were priding themselves on the relative speed with which they had presented their accounts for the signature of the principal enemy state. And well do we remember how statesmen of the victorious nations assured their respective peoples that the documents filed in the archives of the various capitals could be regarded as a guarantee that that conflict was in fact the "war to end all wars." None needs reminding at this stage in the world's progress that the interregnum was nothing more than an uneasy truce. In other words, if history is still to be regarded as a great teacher, war-weary millions may yet live to be thankful that all the differences which have divided the victorious allies since the end of the recent global conflagration were eventually composed in the calmer atmosphere which the passage of time created.

DRAGON SLAYER

TODAY IS THE FEAST DAY OF ST. George, the patron saint of England who is also shared with Portugal and Aragon. The mists of time have obscured the life and deeds of St. George—his birth, probably at Lydda, Palestine, about the year 300, his military career under the Roman Emperor Diocletian, his visit to Britain, his renunciation of worldly power and personal wealth in order to assist the oppressed Christians, and his martyrdom at the hands of the Romans.

There are many who advance their own theories on the "facts" of St. George's life, and there are others who, like Calvin, doubt that he existed at all. But these are matters for the historian and the theologian. For the man in the street the picture is clear—St. George was a knight in shining armor, and he slew the dragon of evil.

The dragon story appears to have been added to the legends about St. George as a result of the mythological belief that it was only some 10 miles from Lydda that Perseus slew the monster which menaced Andromeda. But the legend has been greater than its origin, whatever that may have been. For St. George, in the shape of nations or of individuals, or in the guise of man's own soul, still slays the monstrous creations of evil today.

It was not until 1330 that Edward III made St. George the patron saint of the kingdom, but the many churches named after him throughout Europe testified to his fame long before this. The cross of St. George—red on a white field—was worn over the armor of knights going into battle as a religious protection against the enemy. It was flown as a banner by the English forces, and in time became incorporated with the crosses of St. Andrew and St. Patrick in the present Union Jack.

Men have fought and died under the cross of St. George, secure in the knowledge that their cause was just. The struggle will never cease, though the battlefields may change in place and character. For there will always be the weak in need of succor, the power of evil to oppress them, and the spirit of St. George to triumph for them.

In these days of adversity for Britons, now in still another life and death struggle, they may well, with Shakespeare's King Henry V, take comfort in their champion, and declare: "The game's afoot; Follow your spirit, and, upon this charge cry 'God for Harry! England and Saint George'!"

PULLING TOGETHER

FEW CANADIANS SUFFER FROM THE delusion that a goods-hungry world will maintain indefinitely its clamor for those commodities which this Dominion can produce in abundance. They recognize the abnormality of markets created by the war and postwar conditions, and they realize that enjoyment of the expanded trade arising from that situation can be maintained and enlarged only through the pursuit of vigorous policies.

With that in mind, citizens of the west will have noted with satisfaction the establishment by the Dominion Government of a special regional office in Vancouver of the foreign trade service of the federal Trade and Commerce department. Yesterday officials of the corresponding provincial department, together with representatives of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, met Mr. H. W. Brighton, chief of the new office, and learned from him the purposes of his appointment. They were cheered to discover in Mr. Brighton a man widely experienced in Canadian trade commission work, an individual thoroughly alive to the needs of the country, and anxious to contribute to the stimulation of the exchange of goods between Canada and the rest of the trading world.

Of particular gratification to all who appreciate the need for such agencies to encourage business were the pledges of co-operation between provincial and federal departments. Before them is a job requiring a high degree of united effort. The requisite mutual assistance seems assured.

FOR MORE TOURISTS

TO ALL WHO ARE INTERESTED IN the tourist trade, and its benefits are extended directly or indirectly to virtually everyone in this community, last night's launching of the $2,000,000 ferry Chinook was an affair of some moment. The vessel, built for the Puget Sound Navigation Company, for service between Seattle and Victoria, and scheduled to increase the Strait crossings between this city and Port Angeles, will become another vital link in the chain which brings motor visitors from the United States to Vancouver Island's playgrounds.

By all accounts the ship reflects the particular care taken to adapt it to the specific service it will render. Substantial carrying capacity for passengers and vehicles will help to relieve a very serious deficiency that has existed in recent years and has resulted in restriction of the numbers who wished to visit Victoria and its contiguous areas but have been deterred by the difficulties of ensuring return for their cars on dates that were suitable to them.

The restoration to service in the near future of the C.P.R.'s Princess Kathleen, renovated and redesigned to handle more automobiles, will mark a further step in the progress of transportation companies to meet the needs of the traveling public in this section of the world.

These developments have been noted by all agencies seeking to encourage the influx of tourists, whose dollars make a material contribution to the economy of this city and this province. And as the mechanical facilities for increased travel are made available, the community will look forward to the maintenance of the high standard of courtesy and helpfulness extended to our guests by those officials who first meet them as they come off the gangplank and by the citizens at large.

FORWARD STEP

AN INCREASE IN THE PRICE OF LUMber for domestic use, as announced last night by Reconstruction Minister C. D. Howe, should do much to encourage prairie and interior British Columbia mills to increase supplies for home-building in Canada. The announcement follows an earlier federal government order reducing the proportion of the cut which could be exported.

The necessary system of temporary price controls since the war ended has posed a problem for the lumber industry. In the face of an obviously great need for lumber at home, the export market offered much higher prices for the output of the mills, and the result was that as much as possible of the cut was disposed of outside of Canada. When the amount of the exportable quota was reduced, it was natural that the mills should receive partial compensation in the home market.

While the new order will make house construction more expensive for the time being in the prairie provinces and the interior of British Columbia, this will be offset by the increased supplies which will be made available, and it hastens the day when the normal balances of supply and demand will restore the market to peacetime levels.

Walter Lippmann

THE RIDDLE OF THE SPHINX

THE VOTE IN THE United States House on the Hartley bill is a spectacular demonstration of the depth and extent of the reaction against organized labor. The intention of the bill is to outlaw all the big weapons of the labor unions—industry-wide bargaining, the secondary boycott, the checkoff, sympathetic strikes, the closed shop, mass picketing, the picketing of the homes of non-strikers, sit-down strikes, featherbedding, immunity under the Sherman Act, the right to spend money in politics, secrecy of union funds, and many special privileges under the Wagner Act. The bill also intends to rearm employers with many weapons, for example, the injunction, which have been taken away from them.

The bill does not attempt to disguise its purpose, which is to reduce drastically the power of organized labor to bargain collectively. The bill passed the House by a vote of nearly three to one. The Republicans voted for it nearly 10 to one; among the Democrats there was a majority in favor of it. There is no ground for thinking that it does not represent correctly the feeling, though probably not the informed and considered judgment, of that majority of the people who are not closely connected with organized labor.

TO UNDERSTAND THIS great reaction against organized unionism, we must remember that it was generated in the period of the war and immediately after when the demand for labor far exceeded the supply. When the U.S. Congress was elected in 1946 there was not only no unemployment, except of those changing jobs or not willing to take jobs, but there was more than full employment. There was overemployment. Labor was operating in what was for it a seller's market, and that, much more than the legal privileges of the Wagner act and the New Deal, gave organized and also unorganized labor their unprecedented bargaining powers. The legal privileges helped. But in a period of large unemployment, they could not have been exercised so effectively as they were.

These legal privileges, we must remember, were enacted—also by impressive Congressional majorities—after the depression of 1929 and during the '30s, when the reservoir of unemployed workers was never less than about 8,000,000. They were approved by the general sentiment of the country, which disregarded the details as in reverse it does now, because then the employers were operating in a buyer's market, and Congress legislated to right the balance.

AS A MATTER OF FACT neither the legislation in favor of the unions during the '30s nor the legislation against them now has a more than secondary effect. The controlling condition is the volume of employment—whether the demand for labor is more than or less than the supply. During a period of unemployment, labor unions, except perhaps those which have a tight monopoly of special skill, will be weak, and the general sentiment of the country and its politicans will be pro-labor and in favor of reform, improvements, and a new deal. During a period like the one of war employment and post-war inflationary demands for goods and services, labor will be strong, unions will use to the full and abuse frequently their power, and the temper of the country will be anti-labor and conservative and reactionary.

THERE IS AN UNDERLYING problem here, for which no solution is known, which is at the heart of the industrial problem throughout the world, and which it would be much more agreeable to ignore. It is, to put it bluntly, whether it is possible to combine high productivity with free labor and full employment. This is the riddle of the Sphinx.

The most powerful criticism of the capitalist system made by Karl Marx was that it did not operate without the pressure of what he called the industrial reserve army, that is a large mass of unemployed, upon those who were employed. The threat of unemployment, he said, was what moved men to accept jobs and to do them under the discipline of the employer and at the wages he was willing and able to offer them. The strongest argument for socialism was that this compulsion would disappear because unemployment would disappear. In the '30s, while capitalist countries like Britain and America were suffering from unemployment, the whole world was impressed by the fact that collectivist countries like Germany and Russia had solved the problem of unemployment.

BUT CONTRARY TO the implied promises of Marx, the abolition of unemployment was accompanied by the regimentation of labor. The compulsion of unemployment was replaced by the conscription of labor, the whip of poverty by the whip of the police. Socialism in Russia achieved full employment and substantial production but labor was no longer free.

These countries, we say, are not democracies, and have never known freedom. Therefore the world will watch Great Britain anxiously. For there under the Labor party the world is witnessing the great experimental test as to whether under full employment which Britain has, with high productivity which she must have to survive, and with free labor which she clings to with deep conviction, an answer can be found to the riddle of the Sphinx.

What's He Got In The Other Hand?

Japan Americanized—Skin Deep

By JAMES THRASHER, From New York

JAPAN IS going American, Arthur Behrstock tells us in the American magazine. The author is in a position to know what he's talking about, since he formerly was chief of the Planning Division of the U.S. Information and Education Section in Tokyo. But his report is not particularly encouraging.

What the Japanese seem to have done is to go American in the most superficial way. They have revived baseball. Quantities of gum are being chewed. American-type night clubs and radio programs are popular. Ditto American movies, lipsticks, and cigarets. That is a far cry from true conviction and conversion. It merely denotes the sincere flattery of imitation.

APING CUSTOMS

The Americans came as conquerors of Japan. They brought with them many manifestations of their everyday culture and habits. It is not strange that the defeated and subservient Japanese should now try to ingratiate themselves by aping American customs. They may even enjoy those customs. But how much of value does all this signify?

Mr. Behrstock has listed examples of Japan's Americanization without attempting to draw any conclusions. He gives no hint of any political or ethical reformation. His readers are left with the natural doubt as to whether any such reform is taking place.

NOT ALL JAPS' FAULT

If it is not, the fault may not lie entirely with the Japanese. Americans do not always practice what they preach. The land of the free and the home of the brave is also the land of Jim Crow and the doctrine of white superiority over the yellow-skinned races. It is the home of such cultural monuments as the strip tease and the zoot suit.

Less admirable American habits may be more evident on short acquaintance than the beliefs and institutions in which Americans take real pride. They are also much easier to copy and, once copied, to mistake for what is proudly called Americanism.

It is conceivable that the everyday examples of Americanism which the Japanese see all about them create a more lasting impression than the manifestoes of General MacArthur. From a distance of several thousand miles, it may be safe to say that many Americans in Japan may, through thoughtlessness, be failing to live up to their country's best political and social traditions.

ALL AMBASSADORS

Every American in Japan is, in a limited sense, his country's ambassador. America is judged through his actions. His role is difficult and important. In the case of the military it deserves careful instruction and disciplined performance.

It isn't hard to sell the world on the value of bathtubs or the pleasures of bubble gum. It is considerably harder to sell the world the idea that man is endowed with certain inalienable rights. That selling job is not confined to Americans in foreign lands. No American escapes it entirely. All are in the display window of democracy, and are being watched.

Cancer And The X-Ray

B.C. Research Council

THE X-RAY is one of our greatest weapons in the fight against cancer. When applied in carefully controlled quantities, X-rays will in many cases completely and safely destroy abnormal, cancerous tissue.

In applying X-ray radiation however, the range between safe but effective quantities and harmful amounts requires careful control. Not only skillful technicians to give the treatment, but carefully designed and accurately adjusted equipment are required.

When the British Columbia Cancer Institute installed its 400,000-volt X-ray machine in 1945, the Britsh Columbia Research Council, working in co-operation with the manufacturer of the equipment, was able to ensure accurately calibrated and uniform X-ray emission.

CHECKED AND RECHECKED

The council measured the intensity of the radiation throughout the area used for the treatment of patients, designed suitable wedge-shaped copper filters, and supervised their installation. Finally the complete machine was rechecked. For continuing protection, the X-ray equipment is recalibrated at regular intervals.

To protect the operating staffs, lead screening was provided. Reduction of stray X-rays in the working area to a safe level was guaranteed by measuring the X-ray intensity periodically during the installation of the lead. Dr. Young, head of the council's division of physics, designed the sensitive ionization chamber used for the measurements.

PROTECTIVE MEASURE

Dr. Batho, also of the physics division is frequently called upon to design special types of "cones" to accurately direct the rays to particular parts of the body while protectively shielding surrounding areas. New types of "visual localizers" are now being developed. These should prove more convenient than the cones for many applications.

Letters To The Editor

WILLOWS FIRE

Fire Chief Clayards, of the Oak Bay fire department, states that this fire may have been caused by children playing with matches, but that it was of incendiary origin.

Is it a fact that people were living on the premises, and that there was cooking going on there? If this is correct, what facilities had they for cooking? Also, when was this building last visited and inspected? The fire chief states that previous objections have been made to conditions existing at the Willows Fair Grounds. To whom were such complaints made, and what is the nature of the complaints? And what action has been taken to remedy conditions complained of?

TENT CATERPILLARS

After reading recent reports on the activity of tent caterpillars I wonder whether my experience of last season would be of help. Starting on April 18 I spent at least an hour a day cutting off tents from fruit trees, mountain ash, laburnams, weeping birch and shrubs and burning them in our incinerator.

Then the beasts got to the traveling stage and invaded our garden from surrounding properties. My wife and I worked feverishly picking them off our blackberries, climbing roses and other shrubs and burning them, but we were fighting a losing battle.

One day I thought I would try an experiment. I took one of those hand sprayers you use for aphids on roses or for moth-proofing clothes and filled it with the mixture I use in my outboard motor—gasoline and motor oil in the proportion of half a pint of oil to a gallon of gas, and started spraying the beasts. To my delight, five seconds after each group got the dose they curled up and dropped off to the ground. I sprayed them in their hundreds and thousands, and the battle was won.

I tried the same dose on several tents a day or so ago, and had the pleasure of seeing the cursed little worms shrivel up and die.

I don't know if this remedy could be applied in any wholesale way, but it certainly works in one's own garden, as anyone can prove for himself.

If Mr. Churchill were to come to the United States to wage a campaign against the foreign policy of Mr. Bevin, he would be listened to but sooner or later told to go home and do his talking where the policy was made. That is what the London papers are now saying to Mr. Wallace, in polite but plain enough language.

ANGLERS TAKE HEED

London (Ont.) Free Press

It is worth noting that all the restocking in the world will not produce fish if lack of conservation, tree cutting particularly, dries out the streams or makes them uninhabitable for fish. The angler owes much of his fishing enjoyment to the conservationist and for his own sake should support the conservationist in his long-range program for restoration of the bush and maintenance of the fish streams.

HISTORY DAILY

Montreal Star

Many people read more than one newspaper, and most copies are read by more than one person, so it is difficult to calculate the number of people in Canada and the United States who enjoy the privilege of a daily paper. But if, as it has been estimated, each copy averages two readers, it is apparent that there are few who do not take advantage of some newspapers' services. The daily is still the best means of keeping in step with events at home and abroad.

OVERTIME AT HOME

Halifax Herald

School hours are limited to a certain period for the best of reasons, but the limitation becomes a fiction and a myth when the schoolchild is burdened with long hours of study at home. If anyone profits by the regulation school hours, it is the teacher, not the pupil (that is, if teachers on any occasion have nothing to do after school is out). Add to the regulation school hours the time that must be given by the children to homework, and they may not even have the eight-hour day.

POOR WEATHERMAN

Ottawa Citizen

Everyone says that weather forecasting is unreliable. Everyone blames it on the "weather-man." But the truth is that the "weather-man" does not yet possess the full scientific knowledge which alone makes prophecy prosper. Meteorology is still an inexact science—like sociology.

Weather-telling is so complex a business that before the "weatherman" can outlive his present unenviable reputation, he must be able to get all the relevant facts not only from the stratosphere and ionosphere many miles above the earth, but from the rocks and waters below its surface as well.

Norway's Hostels

Norway Digest

RECONSTRUCTION of Norwegian tourist hotels destroyed by the Nazis during the occupation is already well advanced, with 16 new structures scheduled for completion this year. Though a total of 1,100 additional beds will thus be added to Norway's tourist accommodations, another year of building will be required before facilities destroyed during the occupation will have been replaced. Among the larger structures now building are the Hornsjo tourist hotel near Lillehammer which should be completed this fall, the Grand Hotel in Tromso, Dalane mountain lodge in Bulken, and Voktertsua near the Swedish border. Construction in most instances is being aided through state guaranteed loans.

An increase in the number of visiting Youth Hostelers, from 13,000 in 1945 to 51,000 in 1946, has sparked a plan to provide 100 new hostels in Norway during the next five years. Costs will be shared equally by the state, the community, and the local youth hostel unit. Emergency housing is now being investigated for the summer youth hostel traffic.

$9,155,330 Spent On Additions To Plant

A total expenditure of $9,155,330 for plant additions and general expansion work during 1946 was reported today at the annual general meeting of the B.C. Electric Railway Company in Vancouver.

Majority of this expenditure formed the year's share of the company's postwar program of spending $50,000,000 for industrial expansion throughout its holdings in the province.

The total sum constituted one of the largest single expenditures of its kind by a private corporation in Canada during the year.

The 1946 sum compared with $2,420,383 spent in 1945, according to the report.

Major projects covered by the appropriation were:

Electrical extensions on the lower mainland and Vancouver Island, $2,135,864.

Gas extensions, mainland and Vancouver Island, $332,506.

Bridge River power development, $1,526,107.

New electrical substation, Vancouver, $782,539.

New water gas plants, Victoria and Vancouver, $530,288.

New transportation equipment, Victoria and Vancouver, 52 units, $888,940.

Details of the report indicated the company's overall expansion program swung into high gear during 1946 as equipment and materials became more available with the resumption of peacetime production throughout the nation.

Satisfactory progress on the construction of the vast Bridge River development, largest single project of the 10-year program, was reported. Construction of the diversion dam and preparation of the foundations for the transmission towers to carry the high tension lines into Vancouver were the principal features accomplished. Contract for construction of the towers was let several months ago.

A total of 11,724 additional customers were connected under the electrical extension program while gas service was made available for 1,399 new customers.

Payroll Of B.C.E.R. Doubled In 6 Years

Payroll of the B.C. Electric Railway Company was more than double while the number of employees was increased by nearly 54 per cent in the years from 1939 to 1946, according to the annual report of the company released at the annual general meeting in Vancouver today.

The report showed the payroll in 1939 totaled $5,850,000 while last year it was $12,214,000.

During the same period the number of employees on the company payrolls increased from 3,810 persons to 5,855.

The disporportionate rise in the payroll size compared to the number of employees was indicative of the general trend toward higher wage levels necessitated by increased cost of living during the war years and the period immediately following, company officials pointed out.

Payments on account of salaries and pensions during 1946 aggregated $13,237,462, which represented 43 per cent of the gross revenue of $30,970,121, the report showed.

For the purchase of materials and services the company spent $6,695,683, equivalent to 22 per cent of total revenues.

Company officials pointed to the significance of these figures in the creation of purchasing power within the province. By far the largest portion of moneys expended for material purchases was spent in British Columbia and this, added to the amount distributed in wage cheques, created a purchasing power of nearly $20,000,000, within the province for the year.

An increase of 14.6 per cent in operating costs was reported for the year, this being due largely to new wage agreements negotiated during the year. Another major factor contributing to this was the increase in maintenance charge of the street railway system which was being heavily taxed owing to delays in deliveries of new transportation equipment.

About 3,000 islands in all, including coral reefs, constitute the Bahamas.

There's More Jell-O Coming in a Few Months!

JELL-O and Jell-O Puddings always rate high on every family's menus. And soon you will be able to enjoy gorgeous Jell-O treats more often!

Yes — we are going to make more Jell-O and Jell-O Puddings in the not-too-distant future. Not all we — or you — would like . . . but that will come! Right now, let's be glad that a little more Jell-O and Jell-O Pudding is on the way. Let's serve those delicious desserts in our best-looking dishes — and vary them occasionally as suggested here and on the packages.

THREE JELL-O RECIPES with that famous "locked-in" flavor; (1) Garnish Raspberry Jell-O (half whipped, half plain) with maraschino cherries and mint. (2) Chill Lemon and Lime Jell-O separately; flake with fork, pile in sherbets. (3) Fold fruit into whipped Cherry Jell-O, turn into sherbets; glaze tops with slightly-thickened clear Jell-O.

THREE JELL-O PUDDING FAVORITES: (1) Fill baked pie shell with tempting, dark Jell-O Chocolate Pudding; border with slices of yellow-ripe bananas. (2) Top rich Jell-O Butterscotch Pudding with crunchy nutmeats. (3) Pile a whipped topping on satin-smooth Jell-O Vanilla Pudding, and garnish with candied almonds.

Contributory Plan For Pensions Urged At Council Meeting

The Old Age Pensions Campaign Council, meeting Tuesday night in Prince Robert House, discussed ways of putting pressure on the Dominion government to establish a contributory old age pension scheme providing higher payments to senior citizens.

G. A. Wilkinson, secretary of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, told the meeting there was a "strong indication that the whole pension set-up would be changed during the present session, with possible increases of from $5 to $10 a month.

"However, now is the time to get public opinion behind such a movement," he added, suggesting the 64 organizations in the pensions council which have affiliations elsewhere in Canada obtain the support of these affiliated organizations.

Mr. Wilkinson noted that B.C. paid the highest pension in the Dominion, but Quebec and New Brunswick were least co-operative in providing higher pensions for senior citizens.

"The time has come for some degree of parity in these pensions all across Canada, and, if necessary, the western province must make the first move," he said.

Pledge of support of the Aerie No. 12, Fraternal Order of Eagles, was made by Bill Bridgewood.

Canvass Chances Of Interest Cut

The possibility of cutting the interest on prepaid taxes by another one per cent was canvassed at Tuesday afternoon's session of the estimates committee.

Ald. F. N. Cabeldu wanted to know why the city should pay 4 per cent on prepaid taxes, when lowering it to 3 per cent would mean a saving of approximately $5,000 on the $20,750. He pointed out that the money brought in could not be invested by the city to bring in a like amount.

Ald. J. D. Hunter, Ald. R. A. C. Dewar and Mayor Percy George explained that the extra interest was an inducement to the taxpayers to get their taxes in early. Ald. Dewar said he doubted if much would be paid in advance if the inducement was not given.

When the mayor continued that it would be impossible to change the interest rate this year because payments had already started Ald. Cabeldu let the matter drop and the vote was passed.

Two Days' Work Cuts Only $68,023 From 1947 City Budget

After two days' strenuous work trying to prune the 1947 estimates, City Council appeared little nearer the goal of a 45-mill mark than when they started.

Net cut on estimates at the close of Tuesday's sessions was $68,023, or a little better than a mill and a half. The majority of this was cut Monday. Net cut Tuesday was only $3,129. During the day the aldermen managed to cut $8,094 from the estimates, but they added $4,965.

It was hinted by Ald. Edward Williams that the $129,400 kept for contingencies might be drastically cut and a number of others are swinging in favor of taxing 75 per cent improvements, instead of the present 65 per cent in the effort to find the money.

The largest cut in the estimates Tuesday was made possible by Saanich participation in the new juvenile detention home on Coldharbor Road, enabling a cut of $2,000 in that estimate. Another $2,000 was cut in the estimate for maintenance of the City Hall.

Ald. Williams insisted that if the hall was sold only the barest minimum of maintenance would be needed as the purchasers intend to tear it down; and if it is not sold it will require a special estimate of from $50,000 to $60,000 to put it into shape. The council decided to take the gamble on its being sold.

Also taken off was $50 from the cost of having the curfew, $200 for car allowance in the building inspector's office as one of the men has sold his car; $144 from the salary of the caretaker of the comfort station, as his increase is not effective until May 1; and $400 for new furniture for the City Hall.

Added on was $100 for the Memorial Day Committee and $250 for surveys in the lands department. Monday $1,000 was taken off for this item, but it was found necessary to put $250 of the item back in.

3 Public Meetings On Canal Project Are Planned Here

Their revived efforts to have a canal cut through from Esquimalt Harbor and Portage Inlet meeting with the full endorsation of municipal administrative groups, the executive of the Victoria Arm and Portage Inlet Improvement Association mapped further phases of its campaign to get Ottawa to undertake the project, at a meeting Monday night in the home of Mrs. F. Waring, Gorge Road, secretary.

The move, which has long been sought to provide the Gorge and Portage Inlet waters with a better circulation to eliminate a potential menace to health and generally beautify the area, was revived this year with the formation of the association.

The association is after a large public membership for the postwar effort so that agitation for the canal will have a powerful local voice when it is again presented officially to the Dominion capital for action.

While no dates have been set as yet, public meetings are planned for the near future for Craigflower, Tillicum and St. Martin's-in-the-Field schools, according to Bill McKinty, executive chairman. Announcement of the meeting dates will be made later.

Continue Talks On Transit Franchise

Negotiations on the transportation franchise for the Greater Victoria area will continue tonight Ald. H. M. Diggon, chairman of the inter-municipal transportation committee, announced following the first meeting Tuesday.

The five-man committee met W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president of the B.C. Electric Railway Co., and Harold Husband, general manager of Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd. in what Ald. Diggon described as "a friendly meeting."

He expressed hope the negotiations would continue until some definite proposals for new franchise terms could be presented to the four municipal councils of the Greater Victoria area. He would give no hint as to what the terms might be, however, except to say that the committee is still seeking a common ground with the companies on which to base discussions.

Esquimalt Liberals Elect Roy Wellwood

Roy M. Wellwood was elected president of the Esquimalt Township Liberal Association Monday night. He succeeds T. Williams.

Other officers were elected as follows: H. Prior, vice-president; A. H. Dobson, secretary-treasurer.

Elected to the executive were J. E. Cary, B. M. Cody, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Findler, A. West, A. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Anderson and A. I. Thomas.

The meeting was addressed by D. J. Proudfoot, president of the Victoria Liberal Association; K. M. Lewis, president of the Saanich Liberal Association, and Mr. Cody.

9.30 Curfew To Be Abolished This Year

The 9.30 curfew, which has been sounded by the Phoenix Brewery for many years, will cease as soon as the repealing by-law can be passed it was decided by city estimates committee Tuesday.

This will cut $100 from the annual estimates and $50 from this year.

Ald. J. D. Hunter queried the value of the curfew, and moved that the solicitor be instructed to prepare a by-law to repeal the present curfew by-law.

Mayor Percy George agreed that the curfew by-law was not being enforced because the police department had all it could handle with crime prevention and had not the personnel to patrol the streets to enforce a curfew law.

May Fair—It was announced at Carne Rebekah Lodge, No. 45, meeting that a "May Fair" would be held following the next meeting. Sister Lucy Keiser presided and after the business meeting, court whist was played.

Solarium W.A. — It was announced at a meeting of the Solarium Women's Auxiliary that proceeds from Daffodil Day amounted to $1,305. A sum of $5,000 was voted to the general fund of the Solarium board and a donation of $100 made to the Solarium Junior League. Proceeds from a home cooking stall amounted to $53.25. It was reported that 27 blouses and 15 pairs of pyjamas were completed by Fort George Women's Institute and three cot quilts by Lazo Women's Institute. Knitting included one sweater and two vests. Two pairs of socks were donated and Mayo Singh donated 25 Indian blankets and eight dozen washcloths.

Junior League—A meeting of the Solarium Junior League was held Monday in the Douglas Hotel with Mrs. H. B. McClung in the chair. Miss June Howard reported on the Everyman Theatre production which will be presented in the Victoria High School auditorium May 9 and 10 under the auspices of the League. Miss Kathleen Molloy gave the amount received at the tag day for the April Shower of Dimes as $1,773.64. It was announced that there would be a tea and showing of Victoria Camera Club pictures in June, convened by Miss Betty Marr.

Hear Reports—Fairfield United Women's Missionary Auxiliary heard reports from Mrs. W. E. Clothier, on Christian stewardship; Miss Bertha Hall, temperance, and Mrs. W. Allan, community friendship, at the Easter thanksgiving meeting held at the manse, recently. Devotional period was led by Mrs. W. Allan's circle. Mrs. G. G. Green presided during the business period. Plans were made to hold a "quilting" bee Thursday at the home of Mrs. Green, 324 Moss Street. Mrs. W. R. Williams' circle will be in charge of the program for next auxiliary meeting. Vocal solos were given by Mrs. Hilton.

Hear Speakers — Mrs. Madge Hall and Miss Henderson addressed members of the Victoria Toastmistress Club on "Travel, Cement of Internationalism," at their meeting recently with Miss Nellie Savin presiding. Miss Savin led a discussion on "The International Question." Miss Joan Mutrie conducted a speech program in which the following took part: Misses Iris Vallance, Joyce Dixon and Mesdames Barrie Goult and Jack Carter. Miss Joan Vinning gave a vote of thanks. Miss Peggy Wharton was general critics and Miss Marjorie Press, evaluator. Next meeting will be held at the Y.M.C.A. at 6 on April 29.

Mother's Day Tea—Arrangements were completed for the Mother's Day Tea to be held May 7, at the L.A. to F.O.E., Aerie No. 12 meeting with president, Eleanor Thomas, in the chair. The auxiliary will take charge of a street corner for the tag day for Britain, and Gladys Kennedy was named convener. Nominations for officers were taken for the election to be held May 6. It was decided to enter a float in the May 24 parade, and Lil Jones was appointed as convener. Tickets for the banquet and annual dance may be obtained from J. Taylor at Empire 0164. Ann Gerrard was initiated into the auxiliary.

TEEN-AGE NUPTIALS ARE MORE APT TO HEAD FOR DIVORCE

A group of teen-agers ask when is the best age for a girl to marry. Well, the most authoritative information we have on the subject is furnished by the statistics of the Marriage License Bureau, which show that the younger the bride is, the more likely she is to have her marriage go blooey, and that far more boy-and-girl marriages end in divorce than do those of their elders.

This is perfectly logical and inevitable because teen-agers' emotions haven't had time to jell, and what they think is love is often a false alarm. Nor do they know what sort of a husband they are going to want when they grow up any more than they know what style hat they are going to wear next season.

Another reason, and a vital one, why girls should not marry when they are young and immature is because they have not had their playtime of life. They haven't had any freedom or any fun, and it is a law of Nature that if girls don't have their pleasure when they are young, they are mighty apt to take it when they are old and get themselves into scandals.

Anyway, under heaven there is no more pitiful sight than a little child-wife struggling with pots and pans and diapers and babies when her feet are aching to dance and she is mad for the good times that the other girls of her age are having. Of course, miracles do happen. Occasionally there is a 16-year-old marriage that turns out happily, but when it does it is pure accident, and the teen-ager can no more count on it than she can on breaking the bank at Monte Carlo.

MARRIAGE SERIOUS

For marriage is not kindergarten stuff. It is not a children's game. It is a serious business even for adults to undertake because so many different factors go into making any marriage a success. Especially is this the case for women whose happiness depends on their getting their hearts' desire in their husbands.

Hence, before a girl marries, she should be old enough to know her own mind and to have her habits and tastes formed so that she will know what she is shopping for when she picks out her mate. Likewise, she should be old enough to want to settle down. She should have had her fill of parties and dates and near romances and idle flirtations, and to be ready to put all of her energies and interests and enthusiasm into being a good wife and mother.

The neurotic, dissatisfied, peevish, fretful married woman, who are bored by their husbands and burdened by their children; who let their own homes go sloppy while they run shoppes or have careers, and who pick up men in beer parlors, are nearly always the women who married too young and who are trying to make up at middle-age for the thrills that they missed in their teens.

Bright Belt Wardrobe

Eye-catching belt styles to brighten up wardrobes include the dazzling gold kid belt, right, with matching cuffs set with multi-colored stones. From top to bottom, at left, are sporty white-stitched pigskin belt and bag combination; waist-belittling scalloped black velvet peplum, rhinestone-edged; smart natural pigskin belt with eyeglass case attached; and a suave black satin, double-breasted weskit belt.

NEW YORK — Marching out every eye-riveting gimmick that qualifies as a dress ornament, belt styles go all out to give wardrobes a lift, make conversation-pieces and run up a collector's fever.

Novelty pigskin or saddle-leather belts that make functional sense while smartening up any old tweed skirt and sweater swing sun-glass cases or canteen-sized pocket bags. All the whatnots a girl needs to carry can be housed, for instance, in a circular bag which travels on a belt that adjusts for strapping around the waist or shoulder. Completely fitted and plain-lined, the bag closes circular fashion with a zipper. A holster-styled belt which carries an eyeglass case also swings considerable weight as a smart sportswear accessory. Cases and bags like these can be detached from belts.

The suit's newest belt companion is a dandy-like double-breasted weskit of sleek black satin which does liaison duty between skirt and blouse. Qualified to add new sparkle to an old black dress are belts varying in width from sliver-thin circlets to high and handsome busks six inches wide. In this shining galaxy is the new peplum, a waist-line belittler of black velvet, scalloped to make a home for a flock of rhinestones.

But most of the hoop-la of rhinestones, multicolored jewels, gold-fretwork and dramatic styling is reserved for the going-formal group of belt. Most spectacular is an ensemble of gold kid belt and matching cuffs opulently embroidered with multi-colored stones. Either cuff, separated from its mate, can rate second glances when worn as a bracelet.

Orphanage Linen Shower Planned

The annual linen shower sponsored by the Women's Board of the B.C. Protestant Orphange will be held on May 2, from 3 until 6 at the Home.

Guests will be welcomed by the new president of the women's board, Mrs. Walter Luney, and will be shown through the Home by members of the committee.

A musical program will include choruses by the children. Afternoon tea will be served.

Donations of towels and pillow slips as well as other linens, with foodstuffs and cash donations will be accepted.

The B.C. Protestant Orphanage is entirely dependent on voluntary contributions. At present there are 50 children in residence.

Recruits 200 Nurses

BOSTON (CP)—Mayor Curley announced today that a representative from his office will visit Canada's Maritime provinces soon to recruit at least 209 student nurses for training at Boston city hospital.

As an incentive, each student will receive $24 monthly in addition to the usual room and board during the three years of training.

Slade, Lieut. and Mrs. A. H. M. Slater, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hassell, Sub.-Lt. (NS) F. M. Damen, Miss R. Williams, Miss M. Hughes and Lieut. M. W. Mayo.

Miss Helen Ross, a bride-elect of this week, was honored recently when Mrs. Viola Diment entertained at her home on Stewart Avenue, View Royal. A corsage bouquet of rosebuds was presented to the principal and her mother received pink carnations. Spring flowers centred the refreshment table which was covered with a Madeira cloth. Guests were Mesdames Kay Kerr, Edith Galloway and Misses Ferne McDairmid, Joyce, Currie and Rose Coueslan, Levina Nash, Della Buchanan, Ellen Anderson, Clarice Dymond and Bea Carloss.

Misses Sylvia Abbott and June Gibson entertained recently at the home of the latter, 1005 Chamberlain Street, with a surprise linen shower in honor of Mrs. Gordon Chambers, nee Mirium Alder. The honor guest and her mother, Mrs. C. Alder, received corsage bouquets of gardenias and lily of the valley and pink rosebuds with mauve stocks, respectively. Other guests included Mrs. G. Gibson and Misses Pam Alder, Audrey Draper, Lillian Jacklin, Pat. Taylor, Marg Burns, Lorraine Arnet, Sylvia Abbott and June Gibson.

Leaving Saturday en route for Scotland is Mrs. J. Petrie. Mrs. Petrie plans to visit her son, Dr. William Petrie at Saskatoon, and also relatives in Montreal and New York before sailing on the Queen Elizabeth May 9. Following a brief visit in London, Mrs. Petrie will travel to Glasgow, and from there will go to St. Andrews, Aberdeen, Stirling. The Island of Iona, where St. Columba established his church, and which is at present being restored, is also on Mrs. Petrie's itinerary. In August Mrs. Petrie will return to her home, 77 Howe Street. Her sister, Miss Christina Robertson, will follow by plane.

On the occasion of her forthcoming marriage, Miss Mary Aivnuk, who has been employed with David Spencer's Ltd. during the past two years as an elevator operator, was presented with a combination smoker and magazine stand by Mrs. C. P. Partridge, personnel manager, on behalf of employees, Saturday. Miss Aivnuk was also presented with a gift from elevator operators, and received a cheque from David Spencer's Ltd.

A miniature sailboat contained miscellaneous gifts for the bride-elect Muriel Roberts, when Miss Evelyn Gulliford entertained in her honor at the tea hour Sunday at her home, Bradley Street, in Nanaimo. A corsage bouquet of gardenias, was presented to the honor guest, whose marriage will take place in May. Mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. P. J. Piper, Nanaimo, presided at the tea urn and serviteurs were Misses Gulliford, Beryl Piper and Mary Palmer. An arrangement of yellow carnations formed the table centrepiece. Guests numbered 22.

Miss Shirley Morry entertained at her home, 3337 Richmond Road recently, with a miscellaneous shower for Miss Muriel Roberts whose marriage will take place in May. Miss Roberts received a corsage bouquet of gardenias, and her mother, Mrs. W. Roberts, was presented with pink rosebuds. Others attending were Mesdames B. Morry, W. Morry and Misses Norma Bissenden, Irene Hemming, Eleanor Wells, Lillian Roberts, Iris Lindquist, Dorothy Roberts, Donna Maxwell, Velma Addie, Jean Laidlaw and Hazel Carter.

A miniature bride with full ruffled skirt, concealed miscellaneous gifts for Miss Muriel Roberts, when Mrs. W. Miller entertained at her home, Ocean View Road, Tuesday. Arrange College Sophomore Dance At Sirocco May 1

Left to right, Misses Dorothy Wills, Sheila Whittemore and Joan Gonnason, in charge of arrangements for the sophomore dance on May 1 and a student picnic to be held May 3 at Mt. Douglas Park, traditional celebrations that mark conclusion of college examinations.

Miss Gonnason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Gonnason, 630 Dallas Road, is president of the Women's Undergraduate Society; Miss Whittemore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Whittemore, 1198 St. Patrick Street, is secretary of the society, and Miss Wills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Wills, 1231 Fairfield Road, director of literary and scientific departments.

With Jim Patterson, president of Victoria College Council, and Lorne Henry, treasurer, these young women will plan all college student activities for the coming year.

Civil Servants Plan Spring Ball

Annual spring ball, sponsored by the British Columbia Provincial Government Employees' Association, will be held at the Empress Hotel on May 2.

The affair, which promises to be outstanding on Victoria's late spring dance calendar, is under the patronage of Premier John Hart and Mrs. Hart and Mayor Percy E. George and Mrs. George.

Len Acres' orchestra will provide dance music and plans have been made for a sit-down supper to be served during the evening.

Committee in charge of arrangements includes Mrs. Claire Scott, convener, Miss Olive Gilman, Miss B. Buchmaster, J. Wells, W. Lyle and Ray Kersey.

Marnie Johns, Much Feted, To Be Married On Saturday

Miss Marnie Johns whose marriage to Douglas W. Leggatt takes place this Saturday evening has been the raison d'etre for many pre-nuptial affairs during the past few weeks.

Climaxing the list of showers, and receptions was the trousseau tea given today by her mother, Mrs. Clarence Johns, at their Topp Avenue home.

The rooms were decorated with spring flowers and the tea table centred with a crystal bowl of pastel shaded sweet peas. Mrs. H. B. McLean of Vancouver, Mrs. W. H. Leggatt, mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. A. N. Douglas of Winnipeg and Mrs. G. G. MacKenzie presided at the tea urns.

Mr. and Mrs. Johns and Miss Johns will also be at home this evening to their many friends.

Mrs. T. H. Johns, Mrs. Wilfred Johns, Mrs. Harold Johns and Miss Ethel Johns entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of the former, 2753 Somass Drive, with a reception in honor of the bride-elect, when more than 1 0 guests were received.

The spacious rooms were decorated with arrangements of spring flowers, hydrangeas and forsythia. Afternoon tea was served from a table in the dining-room, covered with a Cluny lace cloth and centred with crystal bowl of white stocks and pink carnations, flanked with tall white candles in crystal holders.

Mrs. Clarence Johns and Mrs. W. H. Leggatt, mothers of the bride and groom-elect, with Mrs. H. L. Campbell and Mrs. G. G. MacKenzie, presided at the urns. Assisting as serviteurs were Mrs. H. R. Turner, Mrs. J. Ross, Mrs. S. Moore, Mrs. R. H. McDougall, Miss Margaret Calvert and Miss Marion Patterson.

Mrs. H. B. McLean and Mrs. G. G. MacKenzie will entertain at the tea hour Thursday at the Empress Hotel for Miss Johns when guests will include immediate relatives and members of the bridal party.

On Friday, Cmdr. and Mrs. W. H. Leggatt are entertaining with a buffet supper at their Beach Drive home for the bridal party, prior to the wedding rehearsal.

Margaret Jenkins' Daughter Here

Mrs. Edith Parry of Seattle, daughter of the late Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, outstanding educationalist and first woman elected to civic office in the City of Victoria, was a visitor in Victoria on the week-end, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Humber, 50 Beach Drive. She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Betty Parry.

Making her first visit in some years, Mrs. Parry, who grew up in Victoria and attended Girls' Central and Victoria High Schools here, was interested in re-visiting many scenes of her childhood. She spent Monday afternoon at Margaret Jenkins School, named for her mother, who was the first woman member of Victoria School Board. With W. H. Muncy, principal, and her daughter, Mrs. Parry made a tour of the school, spending some time in the new pre-primary classrooms, opened last year.

Mrs. Parry and Miss Parry returned to Seattle Tuesday afternoon.

'Everyman Theatre' In May Sponsored By Junior League

Everyman Theatre, a company founded in 1946 by Sydney Risk of Vancouver, which has received much acclaim in its first-season tours of major towns and cities in the four western provinces, will appear in Victoria on May 9 and 10 under the auspices of the Solarium Junior League.

From their repertoire of three plays, they will present "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde, and "The Last Man," by Elsie Park Gowan.

These outstanding productions, executed in the Everyman stylized version, have been greeted with flattering acclaim wherever presented.

Unique in its organization and ideals, Everyman Theatre embodies the principle of the true repertory system which unlike a theatrical stock company, periodically increases and maintains the number of productions on hand without discarding previous plays.

To enable such a program to expand as it must, the fundamental requisite is in the actors who must be in complete harmony, one with the other and must have a well developed gift of versatility.

In such a company, one role may be filled by two or more people and in turn one person must be able to take countless numbers of parts.

REPERTORY SYSTEM

In the repertory system adopted by Everyman Theatre, a sense of equality prevails. No one actor consistently stars. Every player is a potential star. All must assume at some time the bit parts along with leading roles.

This leads to a technique of stage co-operation, conducive to mutual confidence and ease under any circumstances, regardless of the type of play or its casting.

The repertory company does not limit its versatility to histrionics.

Each member of the company has specific duties to perform off-stage, delegated with an eye to the individuals' capabilities and interests.

Accordingly, there are ample stage crew, prop men, electricians, public relations and business officials, all helping to form a self-contained organization.

In the Everyman Theatre of Vancouver, Sydney Risk has drawn his talent principally from the four western provinces. In all but two cases the company of 13 young and enthusiastic Canadians, had no previous experience except in amateur efforts of their local theatrical societies.

Through the Everyman Theatre, Mr. Risk hopes to retain and exploit Canadian artistic ability.

The plays will be presented in the Victoria High School auditorium. Proceeds will be used for the Quen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children.

Y.P. Societies

Chi-Rho—A second in a series of talks on "The Building of the Home" will be presented at the Greater Victoria Chi-Rho meeting Thursday at Memorial Hall, at 8. P. Birley, speaker, will centre his talk on architecture.

Cordova Bay—J. E. Brown, municipal inspector, will address members of the Cordova Bay P.-T.A. at their monthly meeting Thursday at 8. Reports will be heard from delegates attending the P.-T.A. convention.

Science, Politics Must Support Religion For World Security—Bishop Sexton

Scientists and politicians should give wholehearted co-operation to religious leaders in securing a recognized world-wide standard of right conduct, so that there may be no misuse of scientific discoveries, Rt. Rev. Harold E. Sexton, Bishop of British Columbia, told the 45th session of the Anglican Synod of the Diocese of B.C., which opened this morning in Memorial Hall.

Bishop of British Columbia

Garbed in the robes of his office Bishop Sexton delivered a charge which touched upon the church and the world, marriage and divorce, religious education in the schools, problem of salacious literature, penal reform "self-appointed evangelists and quacks" and clerical salaries.

"There is frequent and irresponsible talk of another war, which we are told by our scientists, is the certainty of extermination," Bishop Sexton said. "It seems we must control atomic energy or die from its misuse.

"Racial, religious and political antipathies have never been more active than today," he continued. "We have come to the end of an age of bankrupt secularism, and our survival demands a return to the religious controls of society and human life.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE

Discussing the question of marriage, Bishop Sexton said the clergy needed "to emphasize more frequently the difference between the Christian standard in marriage and the secular standard.

"It is reprehensible when we allow so many people to use our church buildings, with all kinds of decorations, as a mere stage setting for an apparently pagan occasion. Such marriages should take place in a registrar's office," he said.

Bishop Sexton referred to a proposal at the General Synod that discretionary power be given to the bishops to permit the remarriage of certain divorced persons by the clergy.

"While there has been no relaxation of the Anglican church's ban on the remarriage of divorced persons, it seems odd to some of us that many Protestant ministers who appear to be shocked at the idea of a dance, or become distracted at the thought of a glass of wine, have no hesitation in conducting, without question, the remarriage of divorced persons.

"And in this matter there appear to be others who combine an unyielding theory with an all-accommodating practice."

Many persons he felt needed instruction for marriage, parenthood and family living, so that they could give the right kind of guidance to their children.

SCORES 'QUACKS'

Bishop Sexton scored what he termed "self-appointed evangelists, quacks and persons who are only too ready to pervert the Christian religion into a channel of money to their own pockets."

"It is not surprising that, amid the widespread ignorance, all kinds of 'fancy religions' flourish, and numbers of our own people, who have apparently been ill-instructed, seem to fall victims to these plausible systems which appear to be ever-increasing," he said.

"While some of these movements may be chiefly concerned in merely over-emphasizing some aspect of the Christian religion, and become somewhat unbalanced in the process, others are utterly false.

"Let us warn our people against the acceptance of wild, crude and fantastic beliefs which circulate so freely today, advising them not to be impressed by large and vulgar advertisements in newspapers, nor to suffer gladly the peculiar people who peddle religion from door to door.

Seeks More Religion In Schools

Discussing religious education, Bishop Sexton referred the B.C. government to what he termed a really successful Australian experiment, the Australian plan for religious instruction in the public schools.

"It is tragic that, at a time when the state needs our help in building better citizenship, religious education is not given a proper place in our schools.

"It is not merely a question of training a boy or a girl to earn a living; we have to be concerned with those great sources of inspiration which teach us how to make the right use of life. If there had been general recognition of this truth, juvenile delinquency might not have assumed its present menacing proportions.

"The Roman Catholic Church in her wisdom has made due provision for her children in this way, and I feel sure the minister of education could depend upon the other Christian bodies to co-operate most cordially in any approved scheme designed to teach our boys and girls how to live."

SALACIOUS LITERATURE

Most responsible citizens would welcome a firm and definite stand by the government in stopping the widespread circulation of harmful salacious literature, as well as reading matter which exalts the criminal mode of life in the minds of the children, Bishop Sexton said in his charge.

"It is becoming increasingly evident that crime stories over our radio systems are not productive of good results."

PENAL REFORM

Bishop Sexton assured the Attorney-General of "our support and best wishes in his attempt to correct some of the tragic defects in our prison system."

"I would also urge that the question of the efficient and sympathetic treatment of drug addicts be given immediate attention."

Among other reforms, which he felt might be urged upon the government, was one for further improvement in island highways.

"In a country which is so naturally attractive to tourists, and, indeed, depends upon them to a great degree, it is utter folly that our highways should receive such poor attention, although we thankfully note the marked improvement in recent years."

He referred to the growing interest in town planning, but said it was "open to serious doubt whether our streets and boulevards are enhanced by the removal of graceful and attractive trees."

"The citizens of Victoria in particular, need to be most watchful lest the hand of the spoiler disfigure their fair city.

CLERGY UNDERPAID

In expressing his high regard for the clergy of the diocese, Bishop Sexton said they were shamefully underpaid."

"I appeal to the laity to give immediate attention to the matter. Our church people pay more for their food, their rent, their traveling, their entertainments, but they do not make a corresponding increase in their contributions to the church.

"Indeed, they seem to have a 'mite-box conception' of the work of the church," he continued. "If we are going to have an educated and efficient ministry, we must pay our clergy adequate stipends.

"The laity are led to pray for an increase in the sacred ministry of the church; they pray for a revival of true religion. I suggest that they contribute towards the answer to their prayers by facing up frankly to their financial responsibility to the church. A stipend of $1,400 and $1,500 a year is inadequate today and I should like the Synod to give consideration to a proposal that stipends be advanced to $1,800 a year or more."

Bishop Sexton spoke also of the necessity for provision of a sufficient retiring allowance for the clergy. He termed present allowances not only inadequate but scandalous.

Proposes Church Homes For Aged

Bishop Sexton urged all to keep in mind the possibility of establishing church homes for the aged.

Discussing reunion proposals at the General Synod, Bishop Sexton said:

"It may be regarded as a foregone conclusion, that the Church of England in Canada will not embark upon any course of action that would endanger her unity with the world-wide Anglican Communion."

A paramount need of the church is a faithful teaching, Bishop Sexton said. Generally speaking, he said, "our presentation of Christianity today is inadequate because it is undogmatic and the result is that only a tiny per cent of our people have any notion what the church teaches about God, or man, or society, or the person of Jesus Christ."

At the opening of his charge, Bishop Sexton referred to the loss sustained by the church in the death of the Primate, the Most Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, Archbishop of Toronto. He referred also to the deaths of Rt. Rev. William A. Geddes, Bishop of Yukon, and Canon H. V. Hitchcox.

The eruption of Krakatoa in 1883 caused the loss of 36,000 lives.

PLAZA—Ginger Rogers in "Magnificent Doll."

RIO—"A Walk in the Sun," with Dana Andrews.

ROYAL—"The Sea of Grass," starring Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn.

YORK—"Hotel Reserve," starring Lucie Mannheim and James Mason.

ROYAL THEATRE

Katharine Hepburn and strong silent Spencer Tracy again match wits in a turbulent drama of the early days of the west, "The Sea of Grass," now showing at the Royal Theatre. The cast includes a sterling performance by Robert Walker and Melvyn Douglas. The story is based on the serial in The Saturday Evening Post.

CAPITOL THEATRE

A bright, fresh comedy, spiked with engaging songs and dances, is now at the Capitol Theatre. It is Paramount's romantic laugh film, "Ladies' Man," starring Eddie Bracken, Cass Daley, Virginia Welles, Spike Jones and His City Slickers, and featuring Johnny Coy and the attractive Virginia Field.

Bracken is perfectly cast as the naive Oklahoma farmer who finds oil on his land immediately after his best girl had jilted him. With $50,000 in his pocket and a romantically disillusioned heart, he goes to New York to see the sights.

PLAZA THEATRE

The first piece of gold lace to come out of Paris since the war has been whipped up into an exquisite Empire style costume by Travis Banton which Ginger Rogers wears as Dolly Madison in "Magnificent Doll," a Universal release currently at the Plaza Theatre.

"Magnificent Doll" co-stars Miss Rogers, David Niven and Burgess Meredith. It is a Skirball-Manning production which was directed by Frank Borzage.

RIO THEATRE

"A Walk In the Sun," Harry Brown's sensational best seller, is at the Rio Theatre today in Lewis Milestone's eagerly-awaited film version starring Dana Andrews.

Presented by 20th Century-Fox, the screen drama features in its cast Richard Conte, George Tyne, Sterling Holloway, John Ireland, Herbert Rudley, Richard Benedict, Norman Lloyd and Lloyd Bridges.

YORK THEATRE

Eric Ambler's best selling novel, "Epitaph for a Spy," provides the basis of R.K.O. Radio's new mystery drama, "Hotel Reserve," now at the York Theatre, co-starring James Mason and Lucie Mannheim.

Victor Hanbury produced and Lance Comfort and Max Greene collaborated in direction.

Remake Centre Continues In Operation

To date 155 have enrolled for classes at the remake centre, now being conducted under sponsorship of the Greater Victoria School Board in the Market Building. The classes are conducted every afternoon and evening and the students get instruction in dressmaking, with particular emphasis on how garments can be remade and refashioned. It is estimated that 200 will be enrolled by the end of the week. In addition to the afternoon and evening classes, special sessions are held Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

Judge To Study Princeton Highway

Mr. Justice Sidney Smith, special commissioner appointed to determine the applications of seven contracting firms requesting increases in their tenders for road construction, flew today to Princeton to inspect the Hope-Princeton highway, one of the contracts involved in the legal proceedings.

The judge traveled with representatives of the provincial government and the General Contractors' Association. The party was flown to Princeton in the Anson aircraft recently acquired by the Works Department from War Assets Corporation.

At the hearing yesterday, contractors contended that due to increased costs they faced bankruptcy unless the amounts of their contracts were increased. Petitioners claimed costs had risen on jobs contracted between April, 1945, and July 1, 1946, involving 13 major contracts, as the result of the rising cost of labor and amendments to the Hours of Work Act.

Harry Anderson, chief highway engineer, represents the provincial government, while A. C. Desbrisay, K.C., Vancouver, is representing the contractors at the hearing which is being heard in Appeal Court.

ATLAS THEATRE

One of Los Angeles' most beautiful churches, the Wilshire Methodist, opened its doors to a motion picture company recently, to permit the scenes of the Warner Bros. production, "One Foot in Heaven," now at the Atlas Theatre, to be filmed within its walls.

The picture, co-starring Fredric March and Martha Scott, tells the story of a minister's family.

Through the courtesy of Dr. Willsie Martin, the two stars and a company of 50 technicians worked most of the day doing interior scenes within the church

DOMINION THEATRE

Paramount's young character actress, Ann Doran, has the most dramatic role of her career in Pine-Thomas' "Seven Were Saved," now at the Dominion Theatre, with Richard Denning, Catherine Craig, Russell Hayden and Byron Barr in leading roles.

In the film, Ann portrays a wife being transported home after having been interned for several years in an enemy prison camp. She and her husband are among a group afloat on a raft for many terrifying days.

One of Hollywood's youngest character actresses, Miss Doran began her career as a child, when her mother was working in pictures with stars of the silent yesteryear.

St. George's Day Program Presented At Kiwanis Club

Members of the Victoria Kiwanis Club were treated to a special "Englishman's program" at their luncheon meeting Tuesday. The program was arranged by a committee of three, Sam Clack, Frank Paulding and Norman Hill, in observance of St. George's Day.

Guests of the club were members of the Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Society. Mrs. Mildred Allen, Miss Dorothy Kendall, Frank Dunn and Don Beale, from the cast of "The Gondoliers," offered excerpts from that opera, accompanied by Miss Kay Drysdale. Miss Barbara Gurney, president of the society, and Melvin Knudsen, musical director, were also in attendance.

"This music of Gilbert and Sullivan is the best representation of the underlying character of the English," guest speaker Canon Michael Coleman told the club. "It is a fusion of the ridiculous and the sublime which is the underlying quality to be found under the cloak of the stolid respectability worn by the Englishman."

Canon Coleman told the club that St. George was a very real person. He lived near Coventry and spent the whole of his life fighting for other people's rights.

"In all the stories of St. George he is depicted as fighting dragons and saving lovely ladies," the canon said.

"There are far more dragons in existence today," he added, "than there were in his time. Among these dragons the most terrible are Communism, graft and selfishness.

"I hope we have enough St. Georges in the world today to rid us of these monsters. It will not be an easy battle but it will be easier for us if we follow St. George's example of getting our strength from God. Before each battle he prayed for strength and after each battle he offered prayers of thankfulness."

"Today, the lady to be saved is the Lady of Peace," Canon Coleman said.

Customs Officer At Dawson Creek

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has authorized establishment of a customs official at Dawson Creek, B.C., to supervise transfer of U.S. goods in bond from railway cars to trucks, an official of the Customs Department disclosed.

The move will make possible an alternative overland route from the U.S. to Alaska. Previously, under an agreement with the U.S. concerning the Alaska Highway, the U.S. was permitted to ship goods in bond over the highway in motor vehicles.

U.S. officials asked that Dawson Creek be made a customs port of entry. But this was not found practical. Instead an official has been stationed there who will serve the same purpose of enabling U.S. shippers to send produce by rail to Dawson Creek, where it can be routed over the Alaska Highway in trucks.

Memorial To Nurses

TORONTO (CP)—A national campaign has been launched to raise at least $32,000 to establish nursing libraries in war-torn European countries as a memorial to nurses who served in the Second World War, it was announced today. The Canadian Nurses' Association, sponsor of the fund, has asked each Canadian nurse, active or retired, to contribute.

The battle-axe has been used as a weapon since primitive times.

Bob Feller Sets Up Another Ball Mark

He's only 28 but Bobby Feller's lofty position in baseball already is such that hardly a year goes by now without the major league's strikeout king setting some kind of a record.

The great Cleveland Indians' speedball artist said a year ago that his aim was to become the greatest pitcher of all-time and although that may be like shooting for the moon when one considers such super-stars as Walter Johnson, Christy Mathewson and Cy Young, there are quite a few observers in baseball today who won't bet against Feller's chances.

In his six full years and two part-time seasons in the big time, Bobby has hurled two no-hit games and nine one-hitters—his latest the 5 to 0 blanking of St. Louis Browns at Cleveland yesterday. Feller set a record for the big leagues last year when he reached eight one-hitters.

After tying the modern major league strikeout mark of 17 in one game in 1936, his first year in the majors, Bob moved out in front by fanning 18 Detroit Tigers in a game two years later. He also set a league record for strikeouts in two consecutive games, 28; and tied another by whiffing six men in succession.

Last season Feller established a recognized mark of 348 strikeouts.

Feller's was not the only one-hitter hurled yesterday. Brooklyn's Hal Gregg held Philadelphia Phillies to a mere safety in shutting them out 1 to 0 at Ebbets Field.

Although they could wrangle only three hits off the combined pitching of Joe Dobson, Earl Johnson and Harry Dorish, New York Yankees made them count by shading Boston Red Sox 5 to 4.

Eddie Miller, who hit only six home runs in 19 games last year, banged his fifth round-tripper in nine games this year, and added a run-scoring single in the 10th inning to give Cincinnati Reds a 7 to 6 victory over the Cubs in Chicago.

Andy Palmer Leads Watson's To Title

Andy Palmer, who walked off with the league bowling title with a mark of 185 compiled in 75 games, last night personally led his team, Watson's Men's Wear, to the championship of Gibson's Senior Tenpin League in a three-game playoff at Gibson's Bowladrome.

It was Palmer's sparkling game of 248 in the third and final game of the series that enabled Watson's to come from behind and edge out Commercial Linen by the narrow margin of 45 pins. The clothiers trailed the Linen Supply trundlers until the last three frames of the final game.

Third place honors went to Gyros who finished 81 pins behind the champions.

Palmer's three-game total for the night was 607. Wilf Johnston 527, Roy Barnes 546, Bill Logie 508 and Nick Howard 503 made up Watson's game winning total of 2,693 pins.

Official averages for the season show Commercial Linen to have the best team average with a mark of 859, followed by Veterans of France with 858 and Watson's with 857. Watson's took the high team three-game mark with 2,851 pins, and the high team single game record of 1,060. Wilf Johnston's 642 was the best individual three-game mark of the year with Roy Barnes rolling the high single game of 264.

Harold Paulding finished second for the best average of the year with a mark of 184, one behind Andy Palmer.

Individual averages for the season follow:

A. Palmer 185, H. Paulding 184, R. Wilson 182, J. Quinn 180, W. Johnston 178, M. Mapes 178, C. Dixon 177, K. Munn 176, C. Steele 175, A. Spouse 174, N. Howard 174, R. Barnes 174, H. Moulton 173, R. Seattle Drops Out Of Lacrosse League

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—The New Westminster Adanacs, who were scheduled to represent Seattle in the intercity lacrosse league this year, will not be taking the jaunt across the border this summer.

It was learned last night that Seattle sponsors have been unable to secure materials to build a boxla floor in the civic arena thus causing the plan to be scrapped.

Interhigh Ball Loop Will Open Play Thursday

Opening game in the six-team inter-high school baseball league is scheduled to get under way at 4 on Thursday at Macdonald Park, bringing together Mount View and Mount Douglas. Teams will engage in a round-robin competition and games are scheduled for Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of each week. All games will be played at Macdonald Park, starting at 4.

Following is the complete schedule with the first-named team the home team which is responsible for securing the base umpire and for telephoning the result of each game to J. C. Wallace (E 1217) immediately after the contest:

April 24 — Mount View vs. Mount Douglas. April 25—Esquimalt vs. Oak Bay. April 28—Victoria Blacks vs. Victoria Golds. April 29—Oak Bay vs. Mount View. May 1—Victoria Golds vs. Esquimalt. SOFTBALL PRACTICE

The Penquin Cafe softball team will practice Thursday night, at 6.30, at Central Park. Any players interested are asked to turn out. The team will play in the senior B division.

EAGLES WORK OUT

Eagles first division juvenile soccer team will practice at Macdonald Park tonight at 6.45.

J.B.A.A. Boxla Teams In Need Of Coaches

Tom Carney, former star boxla player and all-round athlete, who has temporarily taken over the reigns of the James Bay lacrosse organization, would like to see former senior players out to take a hand in coaching of the junior and intermediate teams of the club.

Plans of the J.B.A.A. this season call for teams to be entered in senior B, intermediate and junior divisions of the local league, and any player wishing to play is asked to turn out to one of the regularly scheduled practice sessions at Stevenson Park.

With the former "dust bowl" being improved over last season, the game which almost dropped out of the sports calendar last year is on the upswing.

IMPORTANT MEETING

Tonight three local officials, Doug Fletcher, Ed Popham and Arne Ferguson will meet with the Nanaimo body to make final plans for the island intercity senior B lacrosse league.

Possibility of arranging exhibition games at Nanaimo between an all-star island team and teams of the mainland intercity league will also be discussed.

Interhigh Track Meet Set For May; B.C. Event Slated

Plans for the annual inter-high school track and field were drawn up at a meeting of the Inter-High Sports Council last night at Oak Bay High School.

The affair will be held May 28, at Victoria High School, with four school committees looking after arrangements. Victoria High School will be in charge of the grounds and equipment; Oak Bay High will supply the necessary officials; program arrangements will be handled by Esquimalt High, and the awards will be made under the supervision of Mt. Douglas High.

The meet will be divided into senior and junior sections. The age-limit for junior entries is 16 and under on January 1 of the current year. Contestants are limited to two entries in the track meet and one relay, but are unlimited for entries in the field events.

SENIOR TRACK

In the senior track division, there will be five events, 100, 220, 440 and 880 yards and the mile with the last two being open to juniors as well as seniors. The juniors will have only three events, the 100, 220 and 440. There will also be a medley for both juniors and seniors with groups running 440, 220 and 110 yards.

In the field events, junior sections will compete in the high and broad jumps while the seniors will engage in 120-yard hurdles and 12-pound shot put, open events as well as the high and broad jumps.

This year will mark the first provincial track and field meet which is to be held in Vancouver on May 30 and 31. This event was made possible through the untiring efforts of Ernie Lee, head of the physical training departments for the schools of B.C. The meet will be sponsored by the Department of Education and is open to all high school students between the ages of 16 and 20.

Following are the events in the boys' section: 100, 220, 440, 880 and the mile with field events including high and broad jumps, pole vault, shot put and discus. In the girls' division the program will be 60 and 100-yard dashes and the high and broad jump competition.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

VICTORIA baseball fans are educated to that time-honored axiom that a good supporter has to be on hand for the season opener. The record turn out of 5,300 Monday night brought a big smile to Bob Abel, president of the Western International League, as it hoisted the opening day crowds in the class B circuit to well over the 18,000 mark. Abel has every confidence the eight cities in the circuit will better last year's huge attendance figures and set up a mark that will make baseball leaders sit up and take real note of the Pacific Northwest League.

FANS who wondered about manager Harland Clift's absence from the Yakima line-up will appreciate the information that the former big league third baseman intends to get into action as soon as the weather warms up. Chatting to Clift, all bundled up in a heavy jacket, during the pre-game warm up he shivered a bit and remarked: "It's too cold for me yet but I'll be back in there come those warm summer nights."

LISTENING to the after-game chatter among the fans as they left the park there was nothing but praise for the performance of the Athletics. They all expressed the opinion the club was a big improvement over last year's outfit and were surprised at the youthful appearance of the majority of the players. Success of the A's, from an attendance standpoint, is assured just as long as the club continues to provide the fans with good baseball and shows lots of hustle. The fans don't demand a championship but they expect a contender. After last year's disastrous campaign they are entitled to something good.

AS is so often in such cases the pre-season buildup given Athletics' catcher Vic Mastro didn't backfire. The chunky receiver from California proved he was worth his glowing press notices with a sensational first-night stand. He will be a big drawing card for the club. However, timely hitting of several of the other boys in that opening game must not be overlooked. Mastro stole the spotlight but fellows like Pat Patterson, Leo Righetti, Jack Harshman and Bill Rothrock all played important roles in the thrilling victory.

TO the many fans who contacted the writer, protesting about the smoke that drifted over the field from the back of the grandstand during the opening game, I would like to pass along the information and the Victoria club directors are making efforts to eliminate the nuisance. The same trouble was experienced during several games last season and now the local officials are going to do everything possible to reduce the miniature smoke screen to a minimum.

GOLDS WIN TABLE TENNIS

Victoria High School Golds edged out Esquimalt High by two points for top honors in the Inter-High School Table Tennis league, according to results released today. Golds finished with 17 points; Esquimalt was second with 15, followed by Mount Douglas with 14 and Mount View with 13.

WESTS PRACTICE

Victoria West football team will hold a workout at Macdonald Park tomorrow at 6.30.

LEGION PRACTICE

Canadian Legion will hold a practice soccer workout at Macdonald Park tonight at 7.

Prior Starts With Series Deadlocked

Bill Prior, Victoria member of the Western International League Athletics, will make his first pitching appearance before the home fans tonight in the all-important "rubber" of the current series with the Yakima Stars. The Washington club squared matters last night by handing the A's an 11 to 7 defeat behind the six-hit flinging of right-hander Keith Simon.

Prior, who made his first start in the opening series at Wenatchee and was impressive during the eight innings he worked has thus been given the important job of attempting to hurl the local club to its second series triumph.

By the week-end the Athletics will have additional pitching strength with the arrival in town of Max Hittle. The right-hander, who was with Binghamton last season, remained in California after the training camp broke up owing to the illness of his wife.

Business manager Reg Patterson last night talked by long distance telephone to manager Lefty O'Doul of the San Francisco Seals, in Seattle, regarding the Bob Jensen deal but no decision was reached. O'Doul wants to hold a conference with Charlie Graham, owner of the Seals, before any decision is made. The same holds true regarding pitcher Lou Kasparovitch, who starred last season with Salt Lake City in the Pioneer League. Patterson expects to get definite word within a week.

STASSI HITS HOMER

After jumping on starting hurler Bill Woop for four runs in the first inning, highlighted by third baseman Stam Stassi's home run, his second on successive nights, Yakima never looked back. Woop, who hurled the A's to a win in their first start in Wenatchee, couldn't hold the Stars in check as they reached him for eight hits, good for seven runs, all earned, in four innings.

Southpaw Les Palmer took over in the fifth and although he gave up six hits and four runs, three of the latter were unearned. Woop struck out eight and walked four while Palmer had one and one.

Simon, working his second season for Yakima, uncorked the best pitching the Athletics have faced so far this season. However, the right-hander was none too good with his control, giving up 10 bases on balls, hitting one batter and cutting loose with two wild pitches. But he was stingy with base knocks, hurling hitless ball until first sacker Jack Harshman's home run over the left centre field wall in the fifth. Simon came up with 12 strikeouts.

Stassi provided the fielding gem of the evening when he raced a country mile to make a one-handed spear of Harshman's foul fly in the sixth before falling to the ground.

After closing out the series with Yakima tonight the Athletics will prepare to open a four-game stand against the league-leading Salem Senators at the park tomorrow night.

VIC MASTRO
Catcher

Born in Los Angeles, Mastro is 21 years of age and wants to make baseball his career. Spent two and one-half years in the armed services and saw action in the Pacific theatre. Was voted the "athlete of the year" in Los Angeles in 1942 and received letters in baseball, track and football while at John Marshall High School. Was signed by New York Yankee scout Bill Essick when playing semipro baseball while still at high school. Is one of the fastest men on the club and can run the 100 in 10.4. His biggest thrill was making unassisted triple play while playing third base. He is single and fond of dancing and bowling.

$3,000 Increase In Social Service Bill

Although the implementation of the Goldenberg Report will save the city $7,000 in the care of social assistance cases, the estimates committee Tuesday found it necessary to add $3,000 to the estimate for social assistance, bringing it up to $46,000.

Main assistance to the city came in doctors, drugs and emergency health care.

Mayor Percy George expressed concern over the small proportion of the $250,000 promised the municipalities in the Goldenberg Report, that seemed to be coming to Victoria. He was assured that in convalescent homes, charitable organizations, etc., more would be forthcoming.

The shelter problem is one of the biggest difficulties, Mrs. F. Mutrie, social service administrator, said, as rents are rising constantly and the amount allowed for assistance is static.

Commissioner Dies

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Sir John C. Puddester, vice-chairman of the Newfoundland Commission of Government, died in a hospital here Tuesday following a lengthy illness. He was 65.

Sir John, a native of Northern Bay, Nfld., was managing director of the St. John's Daily News from 1916 to 1932.

TIRED, HUNGRY INDIAN USED KNIFE DURING NIGHT

In 1812 Minor Spicer lived in a little house on the southern shore of Lake Erie with his wife and children. There were two other white families nearby, but a band of Indians could have overcome the tiny settlement with little trouble.

One dark night a call came from the front of the cabin. Spicer picked up his rifle and opened the door. There stood an Indian, who had dismounted from the horse he had been riding. Over the back of his horse was a slain deer.

"Injun tired, cold, sleepy," said the stranger.

Spicer thought that the Indian might be a spy, but invited him to spend the night in the cabin.

After tying his horse and unloading the deer, the warrior entered. He could speak few English words, but he pointed to the deer and then to the fire.

"He is hungry," said Mrs. Spicer, and she prepared a slice of venison for the guest. He accepted it with seeming pleasure, but he ate only a little of it. The rest he slipped into a bag.

The Indian was told to lie down on a couch, and Spicer went to bed in a room which opened to the one with the fireplace.

The Indian lay down as if to sleep, but in a little while got up again.

"Ha!" thought Spicer. "He was only making believe that he was hungry. I will watch him closely tonight."

In the loft above were the children, slumbering peacefully. Spicer was breathing deeply, but was only pretending to be asleep; he was watching closely.

In a moment, the Indian picked up his scalping knife and started across the room. Meanwhile Spicer reached for his musket, and was just taking aim when he saw what the other was doing—cutting a piece of meat from the slain deer! The meat was taken to the fireplace and held over the embers until cooked. Then, with smacking lips, the Indian ate it and went back to the couch to sleep.

Years later, the Indian paid another visit to the Spicers. He could now speak better English, and explained that the meat which Mrs. Spicer had cooked for him had been salted too heavily. He had not wished to complain about the way she had cooked it.

Life Underwriters Confer Here

Nearly 60 life insurance salesmen attended the Victoria and Vancouver Island Life Underwriters' Association educational sales congress held at the Empress Hotel today.

The congress was opened by Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb. He was followed by R. S. A. Jackson, president of the Victoria and Vancouver Island L.U.A., who introduced the speakers. Speakers were: William King, manager, Fidelity Mutual Life, St. Louis, Mo.; Fernand de Haerne, manager, La Sauvegarde Life, Montreal; Walter R. Hoefflin, general agent, Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., Seattle, and A. Gordon Nairn, executive vice-president, L.U.A. of Canada.

Chairman of the morning session was Mr. Jackson. The afternoon session was under the chairmanship of Thomas Watson.

In commenting on recent trends in the life insurance business, Mr. Nairn stated life insurance sales in 1946 had exceeded sales in 1945 by more than 28 per cent and were more than 137 per cent above the 1939 level. Some of the factors in this, he believed, were the continued high rate of employment, the large amount of money in circulation, the lack of many kinds of consumer goods, the desire of people generally for security and the efforts of selected, trained life insurance sales personnel.

However, Mr. Nairn felt high income taxes and low interest rates had a good deal to do with the increased purchase of life insurance. He pointed out that before the war the average man could conceivably accumulate an estate gradually over the years by putting aside some savings each year, investing these savings and thereby receiving the benefit of compound interest at work. Of course, he said, if a man had wanted to build an estate quickly, in most cases he would have had to do so through the purchase of life insurance. Now, as a result of high income taxes, it is most difficult to set aside each year any sizeable amount of savings from his income.

Mr. Nairn also said considerable improvement was being made in the distribution end of the life insurance business. Because of the work of the association and of the insurance companies themselves, he said, material improvement was noticeable in the calibre of the life insurance agents in the business today.

It was his opinion that the peddler type of life insurance salesman is fast disappearing from the business.

Estimates Committee Prunes Another Mill From Budget

Almost another mill was cut from the city estimates in a three-hour discussion this morning, when a net cut of $36,183 was made, largely in the public works estimates.

At the conclusion of the third day of consecutive meetings on estimates the City Council has cut $104,200 from the budget, or approximately two and a half mills. This leaves the budget standing at 51½ mills. The council will meet again tomorrow morning.

Biggest reductions were in the elimination of new work on Montreal Street valued at $15,898, on Fisgard Street, $4,970; and on Herald Street, $4,970. Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the public works committee, hinted that the last two items might be included in a road-building by-law which will be submitted later in the year after the transportation franchise has been settled. Ald. F. G. Mulliner registered his opposition to cutting out the improvements on Fisgard Street.

City engineer G. M. Irwin told the Council members he felt the estimates for road repairs were low as the new buses on the streets were "chewing up the roads" and that it would be found that more money, rather than less, is needed.

Ald. Hunter stressed that nothing has been done for years and that if the roads are to be kept passable more money must be set.

The merits of extending the system of crushed rock or gravel sidewalks came up for discussion, with Ald. R. A. C. Dewar protesting that they are so rough they are more nuisance than no sidewalks. Ald. H. M. Diggon characterized them as expensive and antiquated. After more condemnation of the type of construction $2,500 was cut from the estimate.

Another $4,000 was eliminated from cost of new garbage cans, because, Mr. Irwin reported, much of the material is unavailable, $2,000 from street repairs, $1,000 from sidewalk repairs, and the remainder in small cuts from other details.

Progress Reported On Move To Settle Yarrows Ltd. Strike

Some progress is being made towards settlement of the strike at Yarrows Ltd., W. E. A. Barclay, Yarrows paymaster, said today following a joint meeting of company, A.F. of L. and C.C.L. officials.

These most recent meetings, being sponsored by Yarrows, started Tuesday for the purpose of discussing the possibilities of all three parties jointly appealing to Labor Minister George S. Pearson to set up a conciliation board to deal with the dispute.

The first meeting Tuesday was with the striking C.C.L. union in the morning. The second was in the afternoon with A.F. of L. officials. Another meeting is being held this afternoon between Yarrows and C.C.L. officials only.

At present the conferring officials are trying to find the basis for a unanimous agreement to approach Mr. Pearson.

T. A. Mitchell, business agent for the C.C.L. Boilermakers' Union, said a meeting of all C.C.L. strikers was being called for 7.30 this evening at the C.C.L. headquarters at 715 Johnson Street, at which time he would give a full report to the members on the meetings with Yarrows and A.F. of L. officials.

Mr. Barclay reported there were now 430 workmen at both yards of the company. This figure included a number of men who had been recently hired for new work, he said.

Pt. Ellice Bridge Worries Aldermen

City aldermen were concerned again over the safety of Point Ellice Bridge this morning, when the item of $1,500 for repairs came up in estimates.

"Will this make the bridge any safer?" Ald. Edward Williams queried.

"Not a bit," G. M. Irwin, city engineer, replied. "This is largely for inspection and painting. How can inspection make it safer? So far we have found nothing radically wrong."

Ald. Williams asked what could be done to make the bridge safer and Ald. H. M. Diggon asked if the weight of water in the mains was not a menace to the bridge.

"Naturally," said Mr. Irwin, "the bridge is not designed to carry such a permanent weight as the water."

The $1,500 was passed.

Shocked Lineman Reported Recovering

Condition of Carl W. Quest, aged 53 years, 1633 Pinewood Avenue, who suffered a severe shock when struck by 60,000 volts while working on the B.C. Electric Railway Company high lines on the Malahat Tuesday morning, was reported good at St. Joseph's Hospital this morning.

Dr. A. C. Sinclair said Quest was doing better, but that it was too early yet to determine the full extent of injury suffered by his patient.

Quest, a lineman, was burned about the scalp, face and the right hand and the shock came through the soles of his feet.

J. W. Casey, line superintendent, was with Quest on routine repairs to one of the high line switches on the system at Rough Creek, near the Shawnigan Lake cutoff, when the accident occurred.

From a small hut nearby, Casey saw Quest knocked to the ground by a large electric arc which jumped from the wires to the ground when the lineman opened a relay switch.

Casey immediately went to the assistance of his fellow worker. En route he was knocked down when another arc flashed and injured his leg.

In spite of his own injury, Casey continued on and rendered artificial respiration to Quest until a C. & C. ambulance arrived to convey the badly burned man to the hospital. Casey's quick aid is believed to have been instrumental in saving Quest's life. The superintendent received help from a nearby government road crew.

Bee Inspector Proceeds Up-Island

V. E. Thorgierson, provincial government inspector of bees on his first tour of Vancouver Island, is proceeding to beekeeping areas up-island following a two-week inspection of hives in the Saanich district.

It was reported Mr. Thorgierson had found Saanich hives relatively clean although some burning was necessary in individual cases.

Vancouver Island bees are reported to have survived the winter satisfactorily and the early spring build-up has been also satisfactory.

Agriculture department officials have emphasized, however, that beekeepers should unite their colonies to get strong working forces of bees for the field.

W. Martel, 213 St. Charles Street, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital at 11.30 Tuesday morning suffering with a deep cut on the knee which he suffered when the motorcycle he was driving and an automobile driven by Margaret Harris, 1204 Faithful Street, collided at Fairfield Road and Linden Avenue. The motorist was unhurt, city police reported.

Arrested Man Seeks To Change Plea On Jewelry Charge

Joseph McKenna appeared in city police court today and asked for withdrawal of Dennis W. Delane's plea of guilty in the same court Tuesday for being in possession of stolen property over the value of $25.

Magistrate H. C. Hall declined to give an immediate decision on the application and remanded the case until Friday to hear counsel's argument on the matter.

Delane, who was arrested by Detective Angus Munro on the night of April 18 and was charged with possession of $1,000 worth of diamonds, pleaded not guilty to the charge when he first appeared before the magistrate on Monday.

Tuesday morning, however, he asked to again appear, which was granted, and he registered a change of plea to guilty.

Mr. McKenna said he understood, after being engaged by the parents of the 23-year-old former Calgary man, that when accused pleaded not guilty on Monday he had been remanded for one week for trial. He said he was unaware of Delane's intention to appear again before the court to change his plea to one of guilty on Tuesday.

Magistrate Hall started to point out that the defendant was a grown man, but stopped there and said he would remand the matter to a later date in the week to hear counsel's argument.

Diarrhea Claims Two More Infants

Two more infants have died from the epidemic of infantile diarrhea which necessitated the closing of the maternity wards at St. Joseph's Hospital a week ago, Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical health officer, said today.

This brings the death toll up to three.

Dr. Anderson said all other cases were progressing satisfactorily, and that the hospital wards would be re-opened May 1 unless more cases occur.

The Canadian Pensioners' Association will meet Friday night at 7.30.

C. Smith, National Motors, Yates Street, reported to the city police today that a total of $5,170.67 was stolen from the safe which was punched open at the week-end. The total was made up of $4,195.69 in cheques and $975.07 in cash.

Mayor's Fund Grows

The mayor's fund for parcels for Britain now stands at $2,146 and donations are continuing to be brought in to the City Hall at the rate of approximately $100 a day.

Mayor Percy George received word that the Duncan Women's Auxiliary to the Legion is holding a tag day for the fund and asking how the money is to be spent. London, Ont., has also written, promising co-operation.

Plans for the tag day Saturday are well under way, with the ladies of the I.O.D.E. in charge. They have made up the boxes and prepared the tags in readiness. Approximately 500 taggers throughout the Greater Victoria district will collect money for the fund on the Saturday following St. George's Day, which was considered most appropriate.

Town Topics

The Port Angeles Boys' Band has accepted the invitation to play in the May 24 parade here, it was announced today.

H. Forest, 934 Green Street, reported to city police that his house was entered overnight and that some bonds were missing.

Mrs. Joan Sprague, Millstream Road, Langford, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital at 5.15 Tuesday evening following an accident on Douglas Street between Princess and Queens Avenues involving cars driven by James Sprague and R. Anderson, 1616 Douglas Street, and a Gorge streetcar, operated by A. Phillips, 475 Lampson Street, city police reported. Mrs. Sprague sustained neck injury.

J. E. Winfield pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of dangerous driving on Fort Street, April 13, and was fined $35 by Magistrate H. C. Hall. Circumstances revealed he was driving a truck and had climbed the curb to collide with a telephone pole, which was severed by the impact. The driver said he had taken his eyes off the road momentarily to get something out of the glove compartment.

CHEAP LUMBER
Cheap lumber at less than the price of wood. This lumber cannot be sold commercially at the sawmills because of being offsize, too much bard, splits, check or pitch streaks, but hundreds of loads are being sold, and pieces picked out to repair barns, sidewalks, fences and garden stakes. Even if all this lumber were cut into wood it would be cheaper inside wood and a load will make about 1½ cords. Especially handy for people who live outside of town and find it hard to get wood. This lumber is in 1, 2, 3 and 4-inch boards and planks and timbers up to 20 feet long.
Price Per Big Truck Load $5.75

"BEES" IT EVER SO HUMBER

OH . . . I REMEMBER . . . I REmember . . . I thot it such a lark, peeking thru a knot-hole, at the Royal Athletic Park. Perched precariously on my old C.C.M., those boyhood days . . . how I long for them. I remember . . . I remember . . . changing eyes to peek, the "BEES" had a catcher, in his name was Harry Meek. A local Babe Ruth, with his clouting bat, but he couldn't run . . . was much too fat. So he HAD to sock 'em over my face, so's he wouldn't have to slide to 1st base. I guess like me, there are many of U, who remember old players just like I do.

U'LL ALWAYS remember the day U got this chesterfield set . . . as it's built for a lifetime . . . "CAN'T WRINKLE" as it's all fluted . . . and covered in a gracious green . . . $259 for a suite that U'd Xpected 2 pay $350.

REMEMBER KELLY . . . who could reach any place, he knocked 'em all out, on his first base. Then there was Rawlings, he was no flop, not tall like Kelly, but a star shortstop. I can't recall just WHO was the bird, but he was as exciting as GREENBERG ON THIRD. The left fielder was fast and slim, and he always had ME, right behind him.

WHILE WE'RE CHANGING INNINGS may I tell U about this 3-pc striped green V-lure bed-daveno set which we just opened up . . . warehoused just $155.

I REMEMBER . . . I REMEMBER how as kids we got, for that hole with the largest Knot. 'Twas in the corner, the left field fence, where I perched, with such suspense. And boy, oh boy, it sure was fun, if YOU got the ball from Meek's home run. For the "BEES" and his home run licks, today they're known, as the Ath-let-ics.

ROSE MAHOGANY is the warm floral V-lure cover on this, the smartest chesterfield suite we have ever stocked . . . all walnut outlined . . . top . . . bottom . . . and sides. $325 is the bad news, but U'd never want another.

AND NOW . . . I 'spose some other excited kid will B at MY knot hole with his peekly eyelid. Holding his place, 'tho nearly wild, when this year's slugger "isn't MEEK or mild." Anyhoo . . . as to home base they slide, I'll B looking at MY knot hole . . . BUT, FROM THE INSIDE. Because it's the best spot for a left field hit, and BESIDES . . . it has my name . . . painted on it. In great big letters on the same old lumber, it's ridiculous . . . only says . . . "BE IT EVER SO HUMBER." In white letters on a brilliant red, we're hoping it'll sell a sofa or bed.

LIKE THIS bedroom suite in walnut, with the twin beds and only $169 brand new, too.

BUT I'LL KNOW as in the bleachers I'll sit, I'll B thinking again of that catcher's mitt. And wish again for my old eye-peep, more thrilling than a catch, from a speeding jeep. And when the crowd boos an awful din, I'll B outside again . . . squinting in. And dream again of those far off sights, and won't give a D— . . . that my name's up in LIGHTS spelling . . . "BE IT EVER SO HUMBER"

Bros. furniture
in the heaney warehouse, opp. courthouse
View . . . below Gov't.

THE SCORE on that day was 14 to 3 . . . those "Tigers" as confident as they could B. Then came the 9th, and in the last half, "WE WANT MEEK" we shouted and laft. Two were on, the crowd was tense . . . W-H-A-M, rite over my fence. Others batted, more runs they got, then with all the bases hot, Meek socked it again . . . and OUTA THAT LOT. Another game like that, I've never seen, our "BEES" stung those "TIGERS" our score 15 . . . REMEMBER?

SPECIAL NOTICE!!
We are very pleased to announce that Mr. Frank O. DeMawdsley, formerly of DeMawdsley Real Estate, Penticton, B.C., has become a member of the firm of Marriott Realty. Henceforth the title of our firm will be Marriott & DeMawdsley Realty.

Though our name has changed, the high quality of service rendered the public by Victoria's Real Estate and Insurance Headquarters, remains the same, in addition to Mr. DeMawdsley's years of experience in the field of British Columbia Real Estate.

APARTMENT BARGAIN
BRAND NEW STUCCO—HIGH QUADRA

We believe this investment property to be the finest brand new apartment value offered the Victoria investor in many years. Just look at the construction features — Oil-O-Matic hot-water heating, copper piping throughout, Johns-Manville roof, 2x12 floor joists, 2x8 roof joists and 2x6 studding. A modern plaster job throughout and fire alarm system. Spacious living-room 27x20, with oversize fireplace, generously proportioned sunroom, 35x12 with beautiful solid oak floors. Dining-room 17x13.6, masculine den, 3 large bedrooms, Pembroke bathroom and scintillating cabinet kitchen with tiled sink. Upstairs there are 2 more de luxe suites each comprising large living-room, 2 good-size bedrooms, modern electric kitchen, dinette and Pembroke bathroom. All suites wired for electric range and separate metered electrically heated domestic hot water. In addition, there is a unique billiard room 20x14, finished in knotty pine. The setting is on about 1 acre of tastefully landscaped grounds with patio and in a high commanding view location.

As this property is brand new, immediate possession can be effected so that you can choose your own tenants. It would also make a very desirable guest house or nursing home. See it now and compare it with anything you have seen at a far higher figure. You'll have to hurry for it's a once in a lifetime opportunity.

Loggers Of B.C. Seek Pay Raise

VANCOUVER (CP) — Harold Pritchett, District President of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), said Tuesday night that negotiations on a 1947 union contract for coast loggers would open here some time today.

The union was asking a 40-hour week, a 20-cent-an-hour wage increase, a 5 per cent payroll deduction fund and a union shop. The present contract, signed after a 37-day strike last summer, is set to expire June 20.

The negotiation meeting follows shortly after acceptance by the I.W.A., under "strong protest," of the arbitration board's ruling requiring loggers to work a 48-hour week for summer months under the terms of the present contract.

Portland Holds First-Place Tie

Portland and San Diego maintained their co-leadership of the Coast League today, but the Hollywood Stars provided the thriller in last night's baseball play.

Hollywood squeezed past the Sacramento Solons, 4 to 3, but only after heroic ninth-inning relief pitching by Paul Gregory.

Portland had a narrow squeak, too, defeating Los Angeles, 4 to 3, and escaping from an Angel ninth-inning rally. With the Beavers leading 4 to 1 in the final frame, Los Angeles' Johnny Ostrowski walked and Larry Barton homered over the right field fence to threaten but not quite overtake Portland.

The San Francisco Seals had an easy time of it in defeating Seattle, 7 to 2, poking out 10 hits and benefiting by four Seattle errors.

St. Mikes Take Junior Ice Title In Straight Games

REGINA (CP)—The cheers of 3,000 western fans still ringing in their ears, Coach Joe Primeau and his Toronto St. Michael's College team basked in the glory of Canadian junior hockey supremacy today with the Memorial Cup in their possession for the second time in three years.

Rated as one of the greatest junior aggregations ever assembled, the powerful Irish completed the sweep of their best-of-seven series with Moose Jaw Canucks by scoring a 3 to 2 victory last night.

It was both the closest and quietest game of the finals, following St. Mike's victories of 12 to 3, 6 to 1 and 8 to 1. There wasn't a hint of recurrence of the bottle-throwing episode that forced referees to call the third game with six minutes still unplayed. The rink was well-policed and about half-filled.

It was a slick-skating, beautifully-integrated hockey team that brought the coveted trophy back to eastern Canada for the 15th time in its 29-year-history.

Led, as usual, by the brilliant forward combination of Fleming Mackell, Ed Sandford and Les Costello, the college boys were hard-pressed to gain the victory and the winning margin wasn't assured until midway through the third period when Sandford's screened shot from the left boards beat Bev Bentley.

Flier Returning To Musical Career Impresses Audience

At the residence of Dr. W. B. Milburn, Cadboro Bay Road, the Canadian Federation of Music Teachers' Associations presented, as one of their "Young Artists Series," a piano recital by Edward Lincoln.

Mr. Lincoln, a successful radio and concert pianist, who holds among other degrees the A.T.C.M. and the L.R.S.M., like so many others, was obliged to leave his work during the war. He served with distinction in the R.C.A.F., and was awarded the D.F.C. for courage and devotion to duty on his tours of operations.

It is difficult to single out any one part of his program for special praise, as a very high level was maintained throughout. Perhaps the Beethoven Sonata (op. 28) and the Chopin group were the most enjoyable of the evening. This young artist possesses that rare combination, complete technical mastery and fine musicianship.

Still Unconscious From Sunday Mishap

Miss Mary Emma LePage, 80 years old, of 1157 Hilda Street, badly injured in an accident with a car driven by Tong Yen, 953 Empress Avenue, at the intersections of Fort and Vancouver Streets Sunday night, is still unconscious in St. Joseph's Hospital. Attending her is Dr. B. E. Knapp, Miss LePage sustained multiple fractures of both legs, fractured nose and head injuries.

Yen has been charged in city court with dangerous driving Monday and was remanded until Friday at the request of city prosecutor C. L. Harrison. Bail has been set at $300.

War Relief Fund Opened By Quakers

The Canadian Society of Friends (Quakers) is making an appeal for funds so that food, clothing and medical needs can continue to be sent to the suffering peoples of Europe.

The concern of the Society of Friends for the suffering arises from their central religious thought which claims that something of God is in every person and, therefore, that every human being is of infinite worth.

A fund has been opened locally and contributions can be sent the clerk of the Victoria Meeting of the Society of Friends, Meeting House, 1831 Fern Street. Cheques should be made payable to the Canadian Friends War Victim Relief Fund and may be used as income tax exemption.

City Golf Opens Sunday At Gorge; Morrison Defends

Entries for the city golf championships, which will be staged at Gorge Vale Club starting Sunday, will close at 5 Friday, it was announced today.

Play in the qualifying round will take place Sunday and will be followed by match play on successive week-ends, with the finals to be played May 18.

Officials of Gorge Vale are grooming their course for this event, as it will mark the first time the city championships have been played over the Esquimalt layout.

Bob Morrison, defending champion, will be on hand for the tourney, but he is expected to receive stiff competition from such well known shotmakers as Vic Painter, Billy McColl, Dr. Geo. Bigelow, Allan Taylor, Eric Hibberson, Harold Lineham, Harold Pretty and Gordon Verley.

Painter is really at the top of his form, having only recently annexed the Empress tourney open crown.

Minor Hockey Group Guests At Banquet

Thirty members of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association attended a wind-up banquet in Terry's last night at which plans for next season were discussed.

Ivan Temple, secretary-treasurer; Doug Fletcher, president, and Don Huckin, director, were the speakers.

Hardships and problems of the association during the past few years were brought to light by the speakers. Plans for the 1947-1948 season include starting from scratch in the formation of Bantam, Midget, Juvenile and Junior leagues in the city.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Nanaimo Arena for the support they had given Victoria teams during the season, in the matter of granting free practice periods at the rink.

Dr. Giovandi and Dr. Hall of Nanaimo were also extended a vote of thanks for their free medical attention to injured players during the season.

Philley, Robinson Showing Way For Rookies In Majors

NEW YORK (AP)—One short week after opening day the crop of major league rookies is headed by Dave Philley of Chicago White Sox and Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn Dodgers.

Philley, not exactly a green pea freshman because he was with the Sox until May last year, has appeared in only two games so his .625 batting average can be taken with a gob of salt. However, the husky outfielder from Paris, Tex., has shown enough power to merit a second look.

To date Philley has socked two triples and a double in his five blows and has stolen one base.

Robinson, the highly-publicized first Negro to play modern big league baseball, started slowly under heavy pressure. He finally resorted to his old International League technique to beat out a bunt for his first big time single.

Once Jackie started to swing without restraint he began to connect more solidly. They say he has no power but the 90,000 fans who watched the two-day series between the Dodgers and New York Giants in the Polo Grounds are not convinced. They saw him connect for a home run and a single Friday, and two doubles and a single Saturday.

As of now, Robinson's average is a lofty .429.

Leroy Jarvis, a 20-year-old catcher, has lost little time taking advantage of Clyde Kluttz' absence through injury to nail down the No. 1 backstop job with Pittsburgh.

Pigeon Racing To Begin April 27

The Victoria Racing Pigeon Club will open the 1947 season on April 27, when the birds will race from Tacoma, a distance of 90 miles.

The racing will continue every week, with the distance being increased until the birds reach California, a distance of 500 miles. Racing points are Centralia, 120 miles; Kelso, 150 miles, Portland, 200 miles; Salem, 250 miles, Eugene, 300 miles; Medford, 426 miles; Ashland, 450 miles, and Weed, California.

The club recently had a successful training toss from Port Townsend.

Improvement In Selected Issues

NEW YORK (AP)—Selected issues improved in the stock market today although there were many dissenters.

A number of leaders turned to the downside at the opening after three successive advancing sessions. Some regained their balance and registered gains, which were shaded in late dealings. The pace was slow throughout. Near the close, plus and minus signs were well scattered.

Canadian Pacific lost ¼ and Hiram Walker eased ⅛ at midday among otherwise quiet Canadian issues. Dome Mines and Distillers Seagram both were unchanged.

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—The United Kingdom took about 1,000,000 bushels of wheat under the agreement with Canada in dealings on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Rye futures prices were firm, with shippers making purchases for the deferred months. It was reported some export business was being negotiated in rye, but details were lacking.

London Market

LONDON (Reuter)—Business was dull again today on London stock exchange with trends largely undecided. Majority of the movements were downward but all were slight.

British government stocks were quiet but in the foreign bond market Japanese issues showed better turnover but no material price alteration.

Industrials showed slight activity in the closing stages. Teas gave the best display in commodities.

Stock closings: Babcock & Wilcox 75s 7½d, Boots Pure Drug 62s 4½d, Canadian Pacific £17½, Central Mining £98, Consolidated Goldfields 70s, Courtaulds 54s, De Beers 38s 6d, Hudson's Bay Co. 102s, London Midland Railway £27, Metal Box 113s 9d, Mexican Eagle 17s 7½d, Mining Trust Ltd. 13s, Rand Mines 126s 3d.

Mines Show Fractional Losses

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials traded irregularly on the Toronto Stock Exchange today but mining issues eased back in featureless action. Liquors, foods, steels and oils were the weak spots in the industrial lists while senior golds were lower in the mining issues.

Fractional losses were posted by Bralorne, Bulolo, Dome and Lake Shore in senior golds. Up in juniors were Amalgamated, Duquesne, Goldcrest, Jason, Kirkland Lake, Macassa, Macleod, Upper Canada.

Toronto Index:

20 industrials	168.79, up .47
20 golds	105.30, up .47
10 base metals	85.52, up .34
15 western oils	23.90, off .12

Total sales 858,000.

Public Relations Secretary Of S.A. Urges Immigration

Lt.-Col. Wm. Dray, O.B.E., public relations secretary and national campaign director of the Salvation Army in Canada, arrived in Victoria today from San Francisco, where he attended the national conference on social work with 4,300 delegates from Canada and the U.S.A.

While in this city, Col. Dray, with Col. Wm. Oak, western agent for immigration of the Salvation Army, will meet provincial government officials to discuss immigration.

"Many of Canada's national problems can be traced to one cause—the need for increased population," Col. Dray said.

"Development of national resources, increased production in agriculture and industry, lowered per capita taxation, a more adequate use of two trans-continental railways, and a greater equality with the neighboring United States, would be some of the results from an influx of the right type of immigrants."

"A board of managers or a commission should be appointed to determine and pursue, free of party politics, a long-term program bringing into Canada possibly 5,000,000 persons within 10 years," Colonel Dray said.

CAREFUL SELECTION

The only way of conducting a successful immigration plan is to operate on the basis that it is helpful to the individual, acceptable to the homeland, and advantageous to the land of adoption. Careful selection and just as careful after-care are essential to the success of settlement schemes, he said.

Col. Dray said that there is a British statute, the Empire Settlement Act, which offers the dominions emigrants from Great Britain with the cost of transportation being borne, 75 per cent, by the British government.

Contractor Claims Breach Of Contract

Unspecified damages were before Chief Justice W. B. Farris in Supreme Court today by Thomas H. Turner, contractor, against William and Eileen Smith of Victoria, for breach of contract involving the construction of a bungalow.

He contends the Smiths refuse to pay him after he had completed a dwelling for them in accordance with a contract.

The defendants entered a counter-claim for damages amounting to $1,027 on ground the contractor had failed to pay a number of bills and for faulty construction to the dwelling. They claim the basement and walls are not level and the basement floor uneven and the windows do not fit properly.

The Smiths also allege the contractor failed to complete the house in time and to build it in accordance with plans and specifications.

The case is still continuing. A. P. Dawe is representing the plaintiff. John Gillis is for the defence.

Appeal Court Hears Restaurant Case

The Appeal Court today began hearing the case of Milton Litras and New Good Eats Cafe Ltd. of Vancouver, appealing against a judgment of Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane who awarded a sum of $2,500 to Chris Levas for alleged misrepresentation in connection with the sale of a restaurant business.

Litras in Supreme Court contended he bought the restaurant for $5,000, after the defendant had told him that the prices listed in the menu then in use at the premises of the defendant company were in accordance with the prices set by Wartime Prices and Trade Board. He alleged this was not the case, and had he been aware that the prices had not been approved by the Prices Board he would have paid no more than $3,000 for the restaurant.

Launch New Ferry For Victoria Run

(Special to the Times)

SEATTLE—Four months and one week after her keel was laid, the new $2,000,000 Black Ball ferry Chinook slid down the ways at the Todd's Harbor Island shipyard at 6 Tuesday evening. The Chinook will serve on the Victoria-Puget Sound run.

As the vessel rode the water she was greeted by the veteran Black Ball ferry Iroquois, whose captain had made a special effort to have her at the scene right at the time of the launching.

Nearly 1,500 people heard Capt. Alex M. Peabody, president of the Puget Sound Navigation Co., owners of the Black Ball line, thank the Todd shipyard workers for their co-operation in speeding the construction of the vessel on to the early launching.

Mrs. Peabody, the president's wife, christened the Chinook from a flag bedecked platform as Todd and ferry company officials and their wives, and shipyard workers and their wives looked on.

Among Victorians present at the launching were George Paulin, local agent for the ferry company, and Mrs. Paulin, and Mrs. R. H. Tillyer, also of the local offices.

In For Overhaul

The C.P.R.'s B.C. Coast Steamship Service vessel Princess Norah is in drydock this morning for her annual overhaul and refit. She was towed to the drydock by the tugs Island Challenger and Island Imp, of the Island Tug and Barge Ltd.

To Launch Tug Here

Marine Services and Sales Ltd., 1012 Wharf Street, will soon launch a new 42-foot tug for the Van Froome Towing Co., boatyard officials report.

The tug will be powered with a Caterpillar Diesel marine engine. Work on the vessel began late last year.

C.N.R. Coast Trains Reverse Schedules

Canadian National Railways' departure times from Vancouver will be reversed and faster eastbound schedules provided in important timetable changes effective next Sunday, according to Charles F. Earle, C.N.R. district passenger agent here.

"The Continental Limited," operating between Vancouver, Ottawa and Montreal, will leave Vancouver at 7.15 p.m. daily, instead of 7.45 p.m., at present. The Vancouver-Toronto train will leave Vancouver at 7.45 p.m. daily, instead of 7.15 p.m. All times are standard.

The faster Canadian National schedule clips two hours off the present running time to Ottawa and Montreal, half an hour being saved to Toronto.

F. M. McGregor Wins Life Insurance Award

F. M. McGregor, C.L.U., manager of the Victoria branch of the Mutual Life of Canada, who was admitted as a member of the "Million Dollar Round Table" at the luncheon meeting of the Victoria and Vancouver Island Life Underwriters' Association, in the Empress Hotel today.

The presentation was made by R. S. A. Jackson, president of the Victoria and Vancouver L.U.A., who spoke of Mr. McGregor's accomplishment in selling $1,000,000 worth of life insurance in one year in Victoria alone. He pointed out that only seven Canadian life underwriters reached the $1,000,000 mark in selling life insurance in 1946. The "Million Dollar Round Table" is an organization of life underwriters throughout Canada and the U.S. who achieve $1,000,000 production in a 12-month period.

Mr. McGregor has been associated with the Mutual Life of Canada since 1909 and has been Victoria manager for the past 32 years.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

FRAUD OR FACT?

THIS IS A FUNNY old world! Which profound and highly-original remark was inspired by my musings over the lengths to which some people will go to get something for nothing.

Or perhaps I should qualify that by saying "apparently for nothing." For in a long life I have discovered that you pay for most things in one way or another.

What caused my thoughts to wander in this direction was the story—or, rather, stories—of the fabulous Edwards fortune which has been appearing in the papers everywhere in the last week or so.

And I am wondering if there is any sinister significance in the fact that the first one appeared on April 1?

FIGHTING FUND

ON THAT DAY A REPORT came from Port Talbot, Wales, that the descendants of a certain Robert Edwards were collecting a "fighting fund."

This fund, to which they were donating their hard-earned half-crowns and shillings, was to prosecute their claim to the alleged fabulous estate of the said Robert Edwards.

He, it appeared, migrated from Wales to New York in the 18th century. And, in course of time, became the owner of the land on which the present business section of that city stands.

His will was found only a few years ago, long after his beneficiaries—his five brothers and one sister—had died, or so it is said.

MORE THE MERRIER!

AS SOON AS THAT report reached Canadian newspapers, other relatives popped up all over the place.

Evidently their slogan is "The more the merrier!" For when a check-up was made, about 200 claimants had looked up their family tree and found that Robert Edwards was among the roots.

No less than 12 of them live in Vancouver. Another is a London, Ont., woman, who "had a hunch" after discussing with her husband the good fortune of the Toronto family who won $100,000 in the Irish sweepstakes.

And what she would do if they were lucky enough to fall into wealth. Whereupon her hunch made her read the paper more carefully—and she came across the Port Talbot item.

DECLARED RACKET

THAT ITEM'S COINCIDENCE with April 1, All Fool's Day, lends some credence to a subsequent development in the Edwards estate story.

For a week later an Ottawa lawyer stated that, as a result of investigations of the Edwards fortune made by him at the request of "heirs" some years ago, he found it didn't exist.

And handed his findings to the R.
